ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

FINAL
(Closing New York Stock Prices)

Vol. 104. No. 151. (74th Year) ST. LOUIS, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1952—18 PAGES PRICE 5 CENTS

U.S. INVESTIGATING J. A. WAECHTER'S $25,000 FEE FOR EXPEDITING DEAL

Grand Jury Expected to Inquire Into Whether It Was Split—Air Guard Reported Ordered Off Land 'Within 3 Days.'

The Government is investigating the $25,000 payment made to James A. Waechter, former Election Board chairman, to expedite a St. Louis firm's $90,000 deal with the Government, it was learned today.

Details of the arrangement between Waechter and J. D. Streett & Co., disclosed by the Post-Dispatch yesterday, are expected to be presented soon to the United States grand jury, which reconvenes next week.

One aspect of the Government's investigation is to determine if anyone besides Waechter received part of the $25,000 fee.

Waechter told the Post-Dispatch he kept the entire amount although he had enlisted the aid of "a man with good political connections in Washington" to determine if the Streett firm would be successful in negotiating its contract.

Air Guard Reported Affected.

Another matter of interest to the Government is a report that a unit of the Missouri Air National Guard was directed to cease immediately its use of Jefferson Barracks property involved in the Streett deal.

A high Washington official was reported to have exercised his influence to get the National Guard off the 30-acre section of barracks property wanted by the St. Louis firm. The order said the Guard was to vacate the section "within three days," the Post-Dispach was informed.

Federal investigators are seeking to learn if any officials of General Services Administration, which sold the Barracks property, or other Government employes received personal payment in connection with the sale.

As told yesterday, Streett & Co. had tried unsuccessfully for months to close the deal, although there was no dispute over price. Finally it was advised to hire Waechter if it "wanted to get anywhere."

Did Little on Legal Basis.

Waechter acknowledged he did little for the firm on a legal basis. He said his chief service was finding out that its application was receiving favorable consideration, that it was "barking up the right tree."

Kenneth Baker, Streett & Co. president, said he never learned what Waechter did for his fee. He said the firm employed the attorney as a last recourse, since it needed the property in a hurry to fulfill a contract for manufacture of automobile antifreeze.

Baker said his firm had some regret over the arrangement with Waechter. The plant at Jefferson Barracks is now in full operation, following installation of facilities costing $1,400,000. The $90,000 deal was completed in late 1949.

The firm, wholesale petroleum dealers, has offices at 4067 Park avenue.

MATTINGLY NAMED EISENHOWER DRIVE NATIONAL OFFICER

Barak T. Mattingly, former Republican National Committeeman from Missouri, has been named secretary of the National Eisenhower-for-President Committee, it was announced today in Washington.

Appointment of the St. Louis attorney, leader of one of the strong Republican factions in Missouri, was announced by Senator Frank Carlson (Rep.) of Kansas, co-chairman of the committee.

Mattingly has been active in recent months in the move to win the Republican presidential nomination for Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. He was a supporter of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York in the 1944 and 1948 Republican presidential campaigns.

Girl, 3, Kidnaped From Crib, Found Strolling Along Street With Youth

—Associated Press Wirephoto.
BARBARA NEMEROFF is reunited with her parents, MR. and MRS. MORRIS NEMEROFF, at Montreal police headquarters today.

He Is Disgruntled Employe of Father—Maid Forced to Dress Baby, $50,000 Demanded.

MONTREAL, Feb. 23 (UP)—A 3-year-old girl, kidnaped from her crib last night, was found today walking along a busy street with a disgruntled 16-year-old employe of her father.

Detectives in a cruising car ended an all-night hunt by spotting Barbara Nemeroff hand in hand with Robert Patenaude among the shoppers on St. Catherine street.

Both were taken to police headquarters and Patenaude was held on an open charge. The child apparently was unharmed.

The kidnaper broke into the Morris Nemeroff home, forced the maid, 19-year-old Alice LaChance, to awaken Barbara and dress her, left a crudely printed note demanding $50,000 in ransom, and fled with the baby in his arms.

When police found her, Barbara said she wanted to "talk to my Mummy." They phoned the overjoyed parents and Barbara cried excitedly: "Mummy, I've got a stock of gum." One of the detectives had given it to her.

She and the youth were first spotted by Mrs. Margaret Henry, a shopper who had read about the kidnaping in morning newspapers. She phoned police.

Patenaude, police said, was an employe of Nemeroff's leather goods factory who believed he wasn't paid enough "and took it upon himself to get some more money."

The child's parents were away when the man entered their home about 10:30 p.m. They defied the ransom-note warning against calling police.

Police said a taxicab driver picked up Barbara and the youth near the Nemeroff home between 10:30 and 11 p.m. and took them to the Esquire Hotel. Police said they believed the kidnaper kept Barbara in the hotel overnight.

The maximum penalty for kidnaping under Quebec law is 25 years imprisonment.

3 INCHES OF SNOW FALLS IN NIGHT BUT MOST OF IT MELTS

Three inches of snow that fell last night melted almost as soon as it hit the ground, leaving streets and highways clear and only about a half inch on lawns, Weatherman Harry F. Wahlgren reported today.

His prediction of four inches of snow on the ground this morning was based on a forecast of temperatures in the middle 20s. Instead, the mercury hung just above freezing all night and stuck exactly on 34 from 9 p.m. to 9 a.m.

Tonight and tomorrow will be mostly cloudy, he said with occasional snow or drizzle tonight. Those predictions as to the amount of snow are "pretty iffy," he said.

Visibility at Lambert-St. Louis Field closed down to a half mile last night. About half the scheduled arrivals and departures were canceled, but operations returned to normal this morning.

MALENKOV SAID TO BE NEW ORGBURO HEAD, NO. 2 POST

BERLIN, Feb. 23 (UP)—Soviet Deputy Premier Georgi M. Malenkov has replaced Prime Minister Joseph Stalin as chairman of the five-man Organization Bureau (Orgburo) of the Soviet Communist party, sources close to the Soviet Control Commission in Germany said today.

The elevation of the 51-year-old Malenkov to the second highest post in the Russian Communist party apparently means he is the favorite candidate to succeed Stalin, 72, when Stalin dies.

Stalin up to this time has been chairman of the Political Bureau (Politburo) and the Orgburo, and secretary general of the central committee of the party.

Since the war Malenkov has been both deputy and acting chairman of the Orgburo.

Malenkov's new appointment probably means he has passed Deputy Prime Minister V. M. Molotov as favorite in the competition to succeed Stalin, observers here said.

DEFENSE TRIPS UP WITNESS IN FRENCH POISONING TRIAL

POITIERS, France, Feb. 23 (AP) — The prosecution's star medical witness flunked a test tube test yesterday in Marie Besnard's arsenic murder trial.

Defense lawyers contended there was no convincing proof of arsenic in the exhumed bodies of the 11 persons that the 55-year-old widow, is accused of poisoning. They devoted two hours to cross-examination of Dr. Leon Beroud, who said there was.

Dr. Beroud, head of the Marseille Technical Clinic, occasionally shook his broad shoulders as if in bewilderment at the attack of Albert Gautraz and Rene Hayot, Parisian barristers.

Gautraz handed the witness six test tubes and asked: "Which of these contains arsenic?"

Nervously fingering the tubes, Dr. Beroud finally handed back three. "These," he said.

"None of them contains arsenic," Gautraz shouted.

The defense declared the Marseille clinic's method of detecting arsenic was through judging specimens by the naked eye and that it had written evidence Dr. Beroud used that method.

Dr. Beroud did not deny it.

SCHOOL ATTACKS COULD BE AVERTED BY TELLING AIMS, EDUCATORS AGREE

Forum of Principals' Group Precedes Regional Meeting of Administrators Which Opens Tomorrow.

Teachers and school administrators have been victims of unwarranted and often irresponsible attacks which could in large measure have been avoided if educators themselves made a real effort to explain the modern school program, a forum of the Central District Conference for Elementary School Principals decided last night.

The principals' group is one of several related organizations meeting here in connection with the regional convention of the American Association of School Administrators, which is to have its first general session tomorrow at 4 p.m. at Kiel Auditorium Opera House. More than 9000 persons were expected to attend.

Two national education officials, an elementary school principal, a school superintendent, and a board of education member were on the discussion panel for the forum, which was held at Hotel Jefferson.

Attacks in 3 Fields.

Glenn E. Snow of Washington, D.C., assistant secretary for lay relations of the National Education Association, said attacks on public schools have been principally in three fields: Demand for concentration on fundamental subjects; demand for more instruction on spiritual and moral values, and charges that some school programs foster Communism or other forms of subversion.

These attacks have come mostly from uninformed persons or from organized pressure groups, Snow declared, adding that the result of such criticism often has been curtailment of school funds or hindering of instruction.

Lester George of Richmond, Ind., an elementary school principal, said: "We must take parents and other interested citizens into our confidence. When we plan changes or innovations, we should explain our intentions. If we do so adequately, I am sure we will have fewer attacks on our schools."

Other panel members were Lyman F. Barrows, a member of the Webster Groves board of education; Don Patterson of Washington, chief of the elementary schools section, United States Office of Education; and Miss Kathryn E. Steinmetz of Chicago, a district school superintendent. Edwin H. Reeder, professor of education at the University of Illinois, was moderator.

Aviation Meeting.

About 200 delegates to the National Aviation Education Council conference, which opened a two-day session yesterday at Hotel DeSoto, heard a group of speakers discuss the need for clear thinking about air-age problems. Many delegates arrived by private airplanes lent by Ohio and Illinois business concerns.

Maj. Gen. J. B. Montgomery of the Strategic Air Command, Omaha, principal speaker at a banquet last night, told the group the world's well-traveled sky lanes "can be exploited to bring to mankind comfort and better living on the one hand, or, on the other, chaos and widespread destruction."

"Our survival, both qualitatively and absolutely," he continued, "may well depend on our national understanding of aviation and our appreciation of its potentialities in the field of commercial transportation as well as military strategy."

Tremendous Changes.

In similar vein, Charles F. Horne, administrator of the Civil Aeronautics Administration remarked earlier that the tremendous changes wrought by aviation's development within the last 20 years are not yet fully realized by the American public.

Horne, an Annapolis graduate and World War II naval officer, told how chemical-dusting planes sent to Iran under the American Point Four program had brought a locust plaque under control and

TEX M'CRARY CHALLENGES TAFT TO ANOTHER MEETING ON TV

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—Commentator Tex McCrary has challenged Senator Robert A. Taft to another television meeting, without a studio audience.

The Ohio Senator, candidate for the G.O.P. presidential nomination, was told of the challenge in Barre, Vt., where he is on a speaking tour. He declined to comment.

Verbal fireworks flared Thursday night between McCrary and Taft on the Dumont network show, "Author Meets the Critics."

McCrary charged the Thursday night attendance was packed with an "organized clique of Taft teenagers."

DEATH TOLL IN PRISON CAMP RIOT IN KOREA RISES TO 76

KOJE ISLAND, Korea, Feb. 23 (AP)—Officials of the United Nations prisoner-of-war camp said today six more Korean civilian internees had died, raising the death toll in Monday's Communist-led riot to 76, including one American soldier.

They confirmed that one United States soldier died of a fractured skull and another was gravely injured.

AUGUST CORONATION REPORTED PLANNED AS TOURIST LURE

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Plans to crown Queen Elizabeth in late August or early September — in time to lure an extra million tourist dollars this season — are being considered by the British court, the Daily Express said today.

The paper said the Queen is expected to decide on a date within three weeks. If the coronation is in 1952, she will be the first British monarch in two centuries to hurry through the formal pageantry in the year of her coming to the throne.

Two official announcements have stirred speculation that Britain may rush plans for the coronation.

First the Queen decreed the mourning period for King George VI would be only four months instead of the customary nine to 12. Then church officials announced that Westminster Abbey would be closed soon after Easter to prepare it for the coronation ceremony.

Despite Three Bottles of Brandy, Elephant Dies of Airsickness

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Boonma, an elephant who wanted to join the circus but couldn't stand the heights, died of airsickness and an outsize tummyache at London airport today despite veterinarians and three bottles of brandy.

Zoo attendants, who sat up all night in a heated hut with their patient, said flying just didn't agree with the Siamese pachyderm. Their diagnosis: Colic.

When Boonma tottered woozily off a plane from Tripoli last night—on the next to last leg of a journey from Thailand to Brussels—the veterinarians bedded down their charge and tended her carefully. Last night they raided the airport cocktail bar for brandy.

"We gotta warm 'im up," one bustling nurse explained.

Handlers tempted the sufferer with rice puddings — specially cooked in the airport kitchen and weighing five pounds apiece — but Boonma just sighed and looked away. They tried cabbages, fresh grass, baled hay, and even oranges, but Boonma turned up four feet of nose. Anti-colic injections just made Boonma's distended tummy rumble.

When the brandy bottles started arriving the elephant brightened a bit. After the third, Boonma burped and came as near to smiling as possible under the circumstances. A bedside bulletin said "Dangerously ill—but there's still hope."

But there was a relapse. And Boonma died.

REDS INJECT U.N. PRISON CAMP RIOT INTO TRUCE TALKS, CHARGE BRUTALITY

Communists, However, Accept Allied Troop Rotation Ceiling — Refuse to Budge on Ports Inspection Issue.

By GEORGE A. McARTHUR

MUNSAN, Korea, Feb. 23 (AP) —The Communists today accused the United Nations of "barbarously massacring large numbers" of prisoners in the U.N. prison camp on Koje island.

"The latest massacre fully testifies to the brutal inhumanity with which your side treats our personnel captured by your side," said Col. Tsai Chen-wen.

The Reds had been expected to inject into the truce conference the Monday riot in which 75 Korean civilian internees were killed and 139 wounded. One American was killed and 39 wounded.

Red Concession on Rotation.

In an adjoining tent at Panmunjom the Reds accepted the U.N.-proposed monthly troop rotation ceiling of 35,000. Previously the Communists had insisted 30,000 men was sufficient.

However, the Reds clung to their demand that only five ports of entry on each side be opened to inspection by neutral teams during an armistice. The U.N. insists on inspection at six entry ports.

Col. Don Darrow said that after an agreement is reached on ports of entry "there still are quite a number of minor items. But they should not present much difficulty unless the Communists become obstinate."

However, the staff officers aren't even discussing the biggest issue of all in the truce supervision controversy — whether the Reds may build and repair military airfields during an armistice.

Communist staff officers again demanded that the U.N. accept Russia as a Communist representative on the neutral inspection commission.

U.N. negotiators again refused to be drawn into debate, but accused the Reds of violating an oral agreement that members of the commission be acceptable to both sides.

Progress on Prisoner Issue.

Despite the Red protest over the Koje island riot, staff officers working on prisoner exchange plans made some progress Saturday.

They now have reached virtual agreement on all but the key question—whether prisoners should be forcibly repatriated or given a choice.

The Communist protest obviously was aimed at the U.N. command's insistence on voluntary repatriation, but observers said the Reds also attempted to contrast treatment in Red and U.N. prison camps.

The protest will be forwarded to Gen. Matthew B. Ridgeway, supreme U.N. commander. An official U.N. spokesman said any reply "will not originate in the U.N. Command (armistice) delegation."

Col. George W. Hickman declined to comment on any possible effect the Red protest may have on the prisoner negotiations.

Data on Prisoners Demanded.

Col. Tsai declared the Koje riot illustrated the "utter bankruptcy of your absurd principle of so-called 'voluntary repatriation.'"

He again demanded an accounting of 44,000 prisoners captured by the U.N. and later reclassified as civilians. Hickman said the data would be ready Sunday if the Communists were prepared to exchange information on some 50,000 prisoners the Reds say they turned loose.

Monday's Communist-led Koje riot broke out in a Korean civilian compound and Army officials said the screening of South Koreans from the camp apparently was responsible.

Both groups of staff officers will meet again tomorrow.

U. N. JET CRASHES INTO 6 BUILDINGS IN KOREA, KILLING 15

PUSAN, Korea, Feb. 23 (AP)—Fifteen persons were killed and 20 injured yesterday when an F-84 Thunderjet crashed into a power plant, then caromed into a hospital and four houses.

The crash occurred at Sadukni, about 12 miles northwest of this southeast Korean port.

Col. T. C. Green of Austin, Tex., commander of the United Nations civil assistance command for the Kyongsang Namdo district, said the American pilot and 14 Korean civilians were killed. Among the dead were at least two women and a baby.

One estimate placed the property damage at $100,000.

The plane knifed completely through the hospital, and blazing jet fuel set the four houses afire. All six buildings were a total loss.

1153 U.N. Planes Downed in Korea So Far; Red Losses Put at 360

All but 15 Allied Craft Listed as American — Air Action Drops to Low Level.

By EARNEST HOBERECHT

TOKYO, Feb. 23 (UP) — The United Nations have lost 1153 planes in Korea and destroyed 360 Communist aircraft, a tabulation of official figures showed today.

All but 15 of the Allied planes lost were American.

The aerial scoreboard for the Korean war was totaled up as action both on the ground and in the air slumped to one of the lowest levels of the war.

A brief Eighth Army communique reported only "light patrol" contact along the 145-mile ground front.

Communist big guns and mortars rained shells on U.N. ground positions in eastern Korea all day, but Allied commanders said there was no indication the Reds were ready to launch an attack.

In the air a jet fight over North Korea cost the Reds one MIG-15 fighter plane and produced a new American jet ace.

New American Jet Ace.

The new ace is Maj. William T. Whisner Jr., Shreveport, La.

He brought his MIG total to five and one-half kills just in time to save a fellow pilot, Maj. Donald E. Adams, Mount Clemens, Mich., whose plane had been hit and couldn't avoid enemy fire.

Whisner knocked down the Red swept-wing fighter in a battle between 34 United States Sabre jets and 40 Red MIGs. Two other MIGs were damaged in the fight.

Allied warplanes ran up a score of at least 10-0 in their jet battles with Communist MIGs over last week, the Fifth Air Force said.

U.N. pilots claimed 10 MIGs destroyed, one probably destroyed and nine damaged. No U.N. planes were lost in air action.

But Red groundfire took another heavy toll. The Air Force's weekly summary said Communist anti-aircraft fire knocked down five Allied planes. Five others failed to return from flights over Red Korea.

An Air Force spokesman said of the missing five, "we don't know whether they were operational or combat losses. They just went up there and failed to return, that's all." He added it was known they were not lost in air combat, because the results of all battles were known.

The spokesman said the pilots of some planes destroyed by groundfire were rescued.

Details in Report.

Official reports detailed overall Allied aerial losses this way:

United States Navy, including shore-based Marines—654 planes.

United States Air Force—484 planes.

Non-United States United Nations units—15 planes.

Fewer than half the planes lost by the United States Navy were shot down by the enemy, however. Of the 654 total, 361 were listed as "operational losses." These included planes which crashed in carrier landings.

In the Air Force, 58 planes were lost in fights, 395 were shot down by Communist ground fire and 31 were lost to other causes. The combat losses comprised 194 jet planes and 259 propeller-driven aircraft.

Far East Air Force headquarters said Communist losses well may be above the 360 officially listed. It pointed out that many of the 102 enemy planes listed as probably destroyed and 449 damaged well may have crashed before they reached their home bases.

Of those definitely destroyed, 225 were Russian-built MIG-jets. The Air Force also listed 53 MIGs as probably detsroyed and 394 as damaged.

U.S. TURNING BACK RUBBER IMPORT TO PRIVATE INDUSTRY

General Services Agency Says Nation's Stockpile Has Reached Safe Enough Level.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—The United States Government announced today it is turning back the nation's importing of rubber to private industry.

The Government has been the sole importer of rubber since Dec. 29, 1950. It took over purchasing of the vital defense material in order to build a stockpile and at the same time check runaway prices charged by overseas producers.

The General Services Administration announced that the nation's stockpile now has reached a safe enough level to allow a return to normal purchasing methods.

When the Government took over, rubber was selling in the world market at almost 80 cents a pound. It now is bringing around 38 cents.

Jess Larson, general services administrator, said the market is being returned to private hands "now that the conditions which impelled the Government to act as exclusive buyer and importer no longer exist."

The Defense Production Administration and the National Production Authority, it was announced, will continue to exercise controls over natural rubber.

SENATOR McMAHON 'NOT DISSATISFIED' WITH H-BOMB WORK

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—The hydrogen bomb project is still top secret but the head of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Committee says cautiously he is "not dissatisfied" with its progress.

Senator McMahon (Dem.), Connecticut, chairman of the group, told interviewers on a radio program last night he could not give details yet. However, he said the atomic stockpile is so large that any attack by Russia now would be the "height of foolishness" on its part.

U.S. MILITARY PLANE SENDS SOS FROM MID-ATLANTIC

SANTA MARIA AIRPORT, Azores Islands, Feb. 23 (UP)—An American military transport plane radioed an SOS from mid-Atlantic today that one of its engines had failed.

The plane, carrying 11 crew members and one passenger, left Lagens airport in the Azores at 10:28 a.m. Greenwich mean time (4:28 a.m. St. Louis time) for Argentia Airport, Newfoundland.

The plane sent its SOS from a position about 800 miles northwest of the Azores and about 600 miles southeast of Newfoundland. Several planes and ships started toward the plane's position.

HARRIMAN GROUP PROGRAM MEANS BOOST IN SPENDING FOR SOME NATIONS

None of 14 Countries Raises Objections — French Quota in Europe Army Cut From 14 to 12 Divisions.

LISBON, Feb. 23 (AP) — The Atlantic Council unanimously approved today a master economic program for a three-year defensive buildup against Communism.

The program calls for tapping western taxpayers for 300 billion dollars to build the anti-Communist armies—a sum planners believe can be scraped together without bringing economic ruin.

The breakdown of figures for individual nations is in the top secret category. In any event, spread over three years, ending in 1954, the total is equal to $750 apiece for each of the 400,000,000 people in the 12 original Atlantic Pact nations.

Nations Voice No Objections.

Not one of the 14 members of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization raised an objection as a full-dress Council meeting gave its indorsement to the study of European defense potentialities made by W. Averell Harriman's Ttemporary Council Committee—popularly known as the 12 Apostles.

The second major achievement of this ninth council meeting came only 24 hours after the Allies gave their blessing to plans for a European defense force which, when ratified by member parliaments, would build a defense force estimated at 2,000,000 men to safeguard free Europe against Communist aggression.

French Troops Quota Cut.

Other NATO developments today:

1. Diplomatic officials said West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer has promised his country will relinquish the right to build certain important war industries—atomic weapons, guided missiles, war chemicals, U-boats and military aircraft—in order to avoid the risk Russia will capture them.

2. Top French and American delegates decided France would supply 12 land divisions and 27 air squadrons to the proposed European army. This is two divisions less than was originally planned. Military planners said the proposed strength was pared because heavy divisional armament could be supplied for only 12.

3. Ten of the Western Allies who are concerned with "infrastructure," the program for stringing air bases, lines of communications and headquarters across Europe, boosted their offers of contributions to the $450,000,000 program today. But the additional offers still did not total up to that target, and European Allies were said to be hoping the United States would pick up more of the check to fill the gap.

Economic Tightrope for Most.

Months of intense work went into the preparation of the economic master plan approved today. All of the governments involved were consulted repeatedly.

The plan forms an economic tightrope for most of the hard-up European nations. Many had to increase their arms spending, and the 1954 armament goals were reduced slightly, to make ends meet under the plan.

It sets down ways and means to finance an army that is meant to include 30 frontline divisions and 20 in immediate reserve by the end of 1952, with planned expansion to some 88 divisions by the end of 1954.

Included in the plan is a network of airbases reaching from the Arctic to the equator, communications, ships, tanks, guns, ammunition, uniforms, barracks and such like.

Other Objectives of Plan.

The plan also provides:

NATO governments must put airfield construction ahead of many other budgetary items to make sure the nearly 200 airbases in West Europe are finished on time.

Arms production is to be speeded.

National resources—men, machines, metals and materials—need to be used more efficiently to stretch thin supplies. Coal, steel and metal production need to be boosted, and the Allies are urged to avoid scrambling with each other for scarce raw materials.

Some of the Allied nations short of manpower need to review immigration policies so they can use other countries' surplus men—such as Italy's 2,000,000 unemployed.

The European nations need to increase their dollar earnings. One suggested method is to hurry construction of the airbases which would bring more United States spending in Europe.

The plan emphasizes more future attention be given to new

Congress Candidate Cole Wants 'Unbiased' Count of Ft. Knox Gold

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Unless you've got a lot of time, don't get ideas about counting the gold in Fort Knox, Ky.

Some citizens refuse to take the Treasury's word that it keeps tabs on every thousandth of an ounce, and they demand an unbiased checkup.

Well, the Treasury answers, it would take a layman two or three years to check the 12,000 tons of bulk gold at Fort Knox. This represents about half the nation's stock of 24 billion dollars in the metal.

And anyway, the Treasury makes an accurate annual count itself.

William C. Cole brought forth the new assurances from the Treasury that the gold is all there. Cole if a former member of the United States House of Representatives from Missouri and is seeking election to it again.

'I'm beginning to wonder, and so are a lot of other people, if any of that gold has fallen out of the bottom of the vault at Fort Knox," he told a St. Joseph (Mo.) audience.

What set him off, Cole said, was shortages found recently in stored government-owned grain.

Cole said that if elected to Congress he would introduce legislation calling for an actual count of the gold.

The Treasury said it makes an accurate count of the gold once a year, with a party of 12 assayers, bullion experts, accountants and others.

NEW RED PLANES REPORTED WELL ABLE TO REACH AMERICAN CITIES

Long-Range A-Bomb Carriers Said to Have 6500-Mile Range and Speed Exceeding 450 Miles an Hour.

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—The firt detailed reports reaching Washington on Russia's newest long-range bomber indicate American cities are well within reach of those atomic bomb carriers.

New information on the Soviet Type 31 bomber, glimpsed briefly during a Soviet air demonstration a few weeks ago, became available along with fresh and disturbing word about the mounting strength of Russia's jet fighter and tactical air force.

The Type 31 bomber apparently is powered at present with piston-type engines, but quite possibly may appear with faster turbo-prop power (a jet engine turbine driving a propellor) by the end of this year. In its present form, the Type 31 is described as having a range exceeding 6500 miles and a speed of more than 450 miles an hour.

Successor to Copy of B-29.

It obviously is intended as a successor to the TU-4, which the Russians patterned from early models of the American B-29, seized by them after forced landings in Siberia during World War II.

Here are some reported developments in Russian war plane strength:

Two new tactical plane types are in use. Type 27, a light bomber powered with twin jets, has a speed of more than 500 miles an hour and a range of about 1300 miles, making it comparable to the United States B-45 light bomber. A type 35 appears to be similar in speed and other performance. Two types are being produced at a rate of about 1000 a year.

Russia may have in production a new interceptor plane even better than its well-known MIG-15. Reports about the type number of this model vary. Some describing it as the MIG-16, some as a MIG-19.

The fact that Russia has built up Red China's Air Force fighting the Korean war to a new estimated strength of 1700 aircraft—900 of them jet fighters—may be indicative of a huge production rate for the MIG-15. Or it may mean that this model is being superseded by mass production of later types.

Aid for Satellites.

At any rate, it is apparent that Soviet production now is at a point where Russia can spare hundreds of interceptor jets to aid its Chinese and Korean satellites while maintaining what it considers an adequate air defense for its home territory.

Along with information on Soviet Russia's air fleet revised figures on American and enemy plane losses in the Korean war have been made available. They show this:

Up to a recent date, 23 United States F-86s and 166 MIG-15s have been lost in air-to-air combat—duels between the planes. This is a ratio of 7½ to 1.

In close-support action (planes used for strafing opposition troops on the battlefront) United Nations losses totaled 65, Reds none.

In interdiction operations (attack on railroads, highways, supply depots and other facilities behind the front) United Nations losses totaled 296, Reds none.

Explanation of Statistics.

The explanations given for these lopsided statistics are:

Although the 900 Red MIG-15s substantially outnumbered United Nations interceptor planes, better trained or more experienced American pilots and better gunnery and aiming devices outweigh the numerical advantage.

The Reds provide no tactical air support for their ground troops and have attempted little interdiction bombing, so they could lose no planes. U.N. losses in such operations have been caused by ground fire. With the front remaining for months in one position, the enemy knows the pattern of air attack and locates his antiaircraft fire to fit it.

The United States has not receded from a policy about which it advised the U.N. more than a year ago: If, in event of complete collapse of armistice attempts, the Communists renew a ground offensive—and accompany it with air attack on U.N. front lines—the United States will be compelled to react. This reaction can take the form of attack on bases beyond the Yalu river used by the enemy air force.

Air attack across the Yalu would be a measure invoked only under the provocation of enemy air blows at U.N. ground positions, something the enemy has refrained from doing up to now.

Army Cuts Gen. MacArthur's Staff From 8 to 3 Men, Calls It Routine

GEN. DOUGLAS MacARTHUR and COL. LAURENCE E. BUNKER.

Earlier Arrangement Reversed 'Contrary to Provision by Congress,' His Aide Asserts.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—Gen. Douglas MacArthur has been forced to cut five members from his eight-man personal staff. The Army says the reduction is routine.

Gen. MacArthur's aide, Col. Laurence E. Bunker, said last night that orders from Army Secretary Frank Pace Jr. came through Feb. 12, directing that the five be transferred within 60 days.

Bunker added that, in addition to the five, the resignation last month of Lt. Col. Anthony Story of St. Louis, the general's former pilot, also was forced.

In Washington, the Army said the staff reductions had been made in line with treatment accorded to other five-star generals who—like MacArthur—were not assigned to any specific duty.

Cut Arranged Last Fall.

The Army said regulations provide an eight-man staff for five-star officers in specific military assignments. It added an arrangement for the personnel cut was made last fall with Gen. MacArthur, who was removed as far eastern commander by President Truman in April.

Precedent for the three-man staff for unassigned generals, the Army said, was set after World War II. President Truman was reported to have decided that such a staff would be sufficient to look after any official business remaining for the generals.

Gen. George C. Marshall is the only other five-star officer not now assigned to specific military duty. Army officials reported Gen. Marshall never had more than three aides assigned to him.

Both Gen. MacArthur and Gen. Marshall are still technically on active duty although not assigned. Their pay is $18,761 a year—including base pay of $11,457; personal money, $5000; subsistence, $504; quarters, $1800.

MacArthur Not in Agreement.

Gen. MacArthur had no comment on the matter, but Bunker told reporters in New York that his chief did not agree to the reduction although he obeyed the order.

Regulations and tradition were checked carefully before Gen. MacArthur left Tokyo for the United States with an eight-man staff, Bunker said, and added:

"I understand from the Adjutant General that this staff arrangement was approved in August 1951 by Army Chief of Staff Gen. J. Lawton Collins."

However, Bunker continued, this approval was reversed later "contrary to the provision made by Congress" for a five-star general, and, in October or November, Pace asked Gen. MacArthur "to designate three individuals he wished to keep permanently."

There was no explanation from the Army for the delay in the issuance of orders.

Bunker said he and a warrant officer and a sergeant were the three left on the MacArthur staff. The colonel added that a major and four enlisted men were those to be transferred.

Story, as an air force officer, was not included in the list of aides Gen. MacArthur would be permitted to retain, the Army said.

Bunker said MacArthur wanted to keep Story and the pilot wished to stay. But Story "was actually forced to resign," Bunker added, "because the Air Force told him he would not be permitted to remain and would be transferred."

RAILROADS CONSIDER SPENDING $2,180,000,000 IN TWO YEARS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Railroads may spend $2,180,000,000 in the next two years for freight cars and locomotives if earnings permit and materials are available, says an industry spokesman.

William T. Faricy, president of the Association of American Railroads, told the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday 200,000 new freight cars and 3465 new locomotives would be needed.

Faricy testified on behalf of the railroads' request for a full 15 per cent freight rate increase. They have called inadequate ICC freight rate increases of 9 per cent in the East and 6 per cent in the South and West, granted last August.

CRASHED PLANE AND BODIES OF 4 FOUND IN KENTUCKY

CLOVERPORT, Ky., Feb. 23 (AP)—A crashed airplane was found about 10 miles north of here this morning and contained four bodies, Coroner Harry Dhonau reported.

None of the occupants of the private plane, which crashed last night, has been identified.

300 BILLION ARMS PLAN APPROVED BY NATO COUNCIL

weapons—a clear reference to atomic possibilities. The experts think some of these weapons will cut down manpower needs and eventually lead to revision of present arms programs.

Big German Role Projected.

The entire plan underlines the idea that a substantial German contribution in men and material is needed to reach the arms goals the Allies have set.

With yesterday's Council action in approving the European army plan—described by United States Secretary of State Dean Acheson as opening "a new day in Europe"—France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg can go ahead with their treaty to set up the army.

It faces parliamentary hurdles in all countries, but particularly in France, which still fears German aggression, and in West Germany, which is demanding full equality in the alliance.

The decision on France's part in the army was decided at a meeting of top French and American officials, with Acheson and French Premier-Finance Minister Edgar Faure present.

Arms Aid Agreement.

The two delegations also agreed on the extent of financial assistance the United States is to speed to France to shore up the shaky French economy, and permit the formation of the land and air units for the European army.

Exact amount of the aid was not announced, but it was made clear by both French and American officials that no new dollar appropriation was involved. The money, estimated by some sources at $500,000,000, is part of an aid-to-Europe appropriation already voted by Congress, but still not distributed.

Most of the money will be in forms other than direct cash-on-the-line grants. At least half of it is expected to be in the form of off-shore purchases, the official jargon for dollar contracts placed with French industries for goods ordered by United States government agencies.

Outlook for Ratification.

Ratification of the European army plan will meet rough sledding, particularly in the French Assembly.

Some differences were ironed out in London last weekend, when the Western Big Three foreign ministers conferred with Adenauer. The London talks were believed to have given both France and Germany enough concessions to overcome the major causes of suspicion.

The main concession to France was reported to be that the Big Three occupation powers in Germany would guarantee, in a form yet to be written, that they will keep a tight rein on Germany's military machine and war production.

The main concession to Germany was the right to fill arms orders for its allied partners and to start work on some non-military atomic research. Giving the European Defense Community—as the Army plan is known—a voice in NATO decisions affecting the six-member nations was an answer to German requests for equal partnership in the Atlantic alliance.

Besides the formation of the army under a supranational command, the EDC plan calls for setting up a nine-man defense commisariat, an international cabiet and a joint parliament of the six nations. It has been seen as a step toward federation.

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has sent word that he rates the problem of infrastructure as "highest priority." Western leaders remain confident that a formula for splitting the cost will be reached before the Council adjourns Monday.

Heart of the debate is the desire by European Allies for the United States to pick up more of the check. Some sources estimate they want the Americans to pay 50 per cent. The Americans feel they cannot increase their contribution and are believed to be saying about 40 per cent or less of the cost is the top possible United States contribution.

TWO YOUTH SLUG WOMAN, 70, IN HER MAPLEWOOD GIFT SHOP

Mrs. Minnie B. Oswald, 70 years old, was slugged by one of two youths who attempted to hold her up in her jewelry and gift shop at 3100 Sutton boulevard, Maplewood, today, she reported to police.

The youths, described as 18 to 20 years old, entered when Mrs. Oswald was alone. While she was showing one of them a selection of wedding rings, the other slipped up behind her and struck her twice on the head with a pistol.

When she screamed, her assailants ran from the store. Witnesses said they ran a block to a parked automobile and drove off.

CABINET RESIGNS IN INDONESIA ROW OVER U.S. AID DEAL

Premier's Party Demands Parliament Decision on Minister's Agreement Accepting MSA Help.

JAKARTA, Feb. 23 (AP)—Premier Soekiman and his 10-month-old government quit today and left for their unnamed successors the hot political issue of whether Indonesia should keep taking United States aid under the Mutual Security Act.

President Soekarno accepted Soekiman's resignation soon after it was submitted this morning. Soekiman's coalition government was the third since the island republic won independence from The Netherlands 26 months ago.

The cabinet's fall became inevitable after the Premier's own party, the Moslem Masjumi, decided last night to withdraw its support because the Foreign Ministry had agreed to United States help. An executive of the Masjumi party—the country's strongest political faction—said the party wanted a parliamentary decision on the question, not just the Foreign Minister's.

Parliament's Rejection Likely.

The general observation in Jakarta political circles is that any new government will have a tough time getting the isolationist parliament to ratify an agreement for MSA dollars.

On his own hook, Foreign Minister Achmad Soebardjo signed an agreement with American officials in January to keep on taking United States help under MSA and go along with the anti-Communist pledges the act requires.

Opponents of the move said Indonesia was being steered from its avowed neutral position in the world struggle between Communisw and the Western powers.

Soebardjo resigned Friday. He, like Soekiman, is a member of the Masjumi party.

Issue Over Kind of Aid.

In an exchange of letters with United States Ambassador H. Merle Cochran, Soebardjo said on Jan. 5 he accepted only non-military aid. His opponents insisted Soebardjo actually had committed Indonesia to mutual defense arrangements with the United States. They charged he acted without consent of the cabinet or parliament, but Soebardjo said he considered it within his authority as Foreign Minister to make the agreement.

Indonesia, given about 16 million dollars by the United States in the last two years, was tentatively scheduled to receive some eight million more in United States aid for the fiscal year ending July 1.

Although American backing of the Indonesians' nationalist aspirations was instrumental in freeing the nation from Dutch control in 1949, Indonesian leaders have refused to take a stand that would put them in either the Western or Communist camp.

EIGHT MEN HELD AFTER FIGHT BETWEEN RIVAL STEEL UNIONS

BESSEMER, Ala., Feb. 23 (UP)—Eight members of two rival steel unions were charged with disorderly conduct and discharging firearms after a fight yesterday in which about 100 shots were exchanged and one man was wounded.

Police jailed three members of the Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers Union, including two international representatives, after the skirmish at Jonesboro in which some 100 miners took part. Three steel workers and two smelter workers were released after posting $100 bond each.

The dispute was laid to friction between the smelter workers and the CIO United Steel Workers of America. The last two southern ore mines controlled by the smelter workers are here.

John Harper, a member of the United Steel Workers, was wounded with a shotgun.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE SAYS TRUMAN MISQUOTED IT

CHICAGO, Feb. 23 (AP)—The Chicago Tribune took issue with President Truman today on a matter of history.

The President told some 500 fellow Masons at a hotel breakfast Thursday that, after Abraham Lincoln's Gettysburg Address, the editor of the New York Tribune and the Chicago Tribune wrote that "the President of the United States also spoke and made the usual ass of himself."

The Chicago Tribune quoted from its report on the Gettysburg dedication, printed Nov. 20, 1863, the day after Lincoln's address: ". . . and the dedication remarks of President Lincoln will live long among the annals of the war."

On Nov. 21, 1863, the Chicago paper said, it printed the full text of Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

TWO KILLED AS LIGHT PLANE, JET FIGHTER COLLIDE IN AIR

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Feb. 23 (UP)—Two service men were killed yesterday when their Piper Cub collided with a jet fighter plane. The light craft crashed on the beach of Cook Inlet five miles west of Anchorage.

The jet pilot, Maj. Warren S. Patterson of Jarrettown, Pa., landed his badly damaged plane at Elmendorf Air Force Base. Patterson, who was not injured, said the collision occurred as he prepared to land.

Lt. Bradford Healy, Tenth Air Rescue public information officer, said the service men rented the small plane at Merrill Field here. Their names were withheld.

A-BOMBS TESTED IN VARIOUS SIZES, RED GENERAL SAYS

Another High Officer Reports Soviet Isn't Counting on Atomic Blitzes, However.

MOSCOW, Feb. 23 (UP)—A Soviet major general reported today that the Soviet Union has built and tested "atom bombs of various calibers."

In one of many articles appearing in the Soviet press on the occasion of the thirty-fourth anniversary of the founding of the Red Army, Maj. Gen. Peter Korkodinov wrote:

"Aware of the jungle customs of aggression, the Soviet Government saw to it that our state would not be caught unprepared and that an aggressor will be met with all possible weapons.

"For this purpose, it organized and tested atom bombs of various calibers."

There was no elaboration.

In another article, Gen. Sergei Shtemenko said the Russians reject all adventurous theories of atomic blitzkriegs and air blitzes and based their strength on "all factors insuring victory."

Shtemenko said the Soviet army, navy and air force have "first class, up-to-date military equipment," but that the Soviet Union is "not brandishing its arms." He declared the only people to whom Soviet military might is dangerous are those "who would encroach on our peaceful labors."

Marshal Leonid Govorov wrote that the Soviet armed forces "are ready to deliver a crushing and deadly blow to any aggressor daring to disturb the peaceful life of our people."

All the newspapers accused "Anglo-American imperialists" of planning to unleash a third world war. Moscow Pravda said Anglo-American "armchair generals" were following the tradition of planning to "fight to the last allied soldiers."

BRITISH STEEL BOSS RESIGNS IN A HUFF OVER TORIES' PLAN

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Steven Hardie, millionaire chief of Britain's nationalized steel industry, resigned in a huff yesterday over the Conservative government's plans to deal with mounting costs of steel production.

Hardie, 65-year-old Socialist, was given his $21,000-a-year job when the steel industry was taken over from private owners by the Labor Government a year ago.

In a letter to Supply Minister Duncan Sandys, Hardie said increased costs should be taken out of the profits from steel. He declared he was resigning because of "the Government's decision to increase maximum prices of iron and steel."

The Government said, however, it has not decided to hike the prices—and the whole issue still is under consideration.

But the Government has let it be known that the high cost of steel imported from the United States will be paid by a levy on British steel-makers. Hardie's letter objected to that also.

The Conservatives are pledged to de-nationalize steel. Because of that pledge, it is not expected that any permanent successor to Hardie will be appointed.

JET PILOT DAVID T. TATUM KILLED IN CRASH IN KOREA

ABOARD THE U.S.S. VALLEY FORGE OFF KOREA, Feb. 23 (UP)—Lt. (jg) David T. Tatum, Navy jet fighter pilot chosen recently by Time magazine as one of America's fighting men of the year, was killend when his Panther jet crashed into a mountain and exploded, it was announced today.

The crash occurred about 10 miles west of Wonsan in North Korea on Tuesday, Feb. 19.

Tatum, son of William Otis Tatum Jr., Baton Rouge, La., was a member of Fighter Squadron 52 aboard the carrier Valley Forge. The carrier was scheduled to leave the operating area for a 10-day rest period 30 hours after Tatum was killed.

Kirkwood Mayoral Candidate.

Dr. G. E. Leslie, 127 Beeke avenue Kirkwood, a dentist, has filed for the nomination for mayor of Kirkwood, he announced yesterday. The two highest candidates in the non-partisan primary March 18 will run against each other in the general election April 1.

Refugee Says Chances for Revolt In Russia Are 'Greater Than Ever'

He Warns That Uprising of 'Oppressed Millions' Must Wait Till West Can Send Huge Stocks of Supplies.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—"The chances for revolt in the Soviet Union are greater than ever before," a Russian refugee told more than 200 delegates to an unofficial psychological strategy conference yesterday.

Constantine W. Boldyreff, son of a former Russian general and now a professor at Georgetown University here, at the same time cautioned that revolution of "oppressed millions" under Russian control must not come before the West has a chance to send huge stocks of ammunition and supplies behind the Iron Curtain.

"The Iron Curtain is penetrable," Boldyreff told the delegates, many of whom have friends and relatives in Russia and its satellites.

Sponsored by Representative Armstrong (Rep.), Missouri, the conferenec of some 40 refugee organizations planned to establish a continuing organization to carry out a program of psychological strategy. Psychological strategy is aimed at breaking down enemy morale short of shooting.

The State Department's Voice of America came in for some criticism as speaker after speaker called for stepping up the United States campaign of truth. The department did not accept an invitation to send representatives to the meeting. A spokesman declined to say why.

Robert Vogeler, American business man freed from a Hungarian jail last April after 17 months' imprisonment, said the penalty for listening to foreign broadcasts in countries behind the Iron Curtain is life imprisonment or death.

"A person who is risking the hangman's noose is not interested in music or bad jokes, . . . or how wonderful life is in the United States," he said.

"All the information relayed must be essential and important."

Edward M. O'Connor, of the United States Displaced Persons Commission, said a central psychological strategy agency should be set up to take over all elements of propaganda and psychological warfare in the cold war.

He said the "Voice," Radio Free Europe (a non-government propaganda radio) and psychological warfare programs of the Army, Navy and Air Force sometimes "conflict" with one another.

"The agency I suggest would need bold and daring leadership," O'Connor said, and would need "authority, funds and latitude of action."

TWO MEN CONVICTED IN $1,600,000 FRAUD

Checks Drawn by One Are Paid, Not Recorded on Bank's Books.

SYRACUSE, N.Y., Feb. 23 (AP)—Jackson M. Potter, a real estate broker, and Bernard E. Klock, a former Syracuse Trust Co. bookkeeper, have been convicted of conspiracy and misapplication of bank funds in a $1,600,000 overdraft scheme.

A federal court jury of eight men and four women last night found them guilty of 22 counts of misapplication of bank funds and one count of conspiracy. Each count carries a maximum five years in jail and $5000 fine.

The Government accused Potter and Klock of having an arrangement whereby $1,600,000 in checks drawn by the realty man against inadequate balances were paid by the trust company, but not recorded in its books.

Potter admitted that he had overdrawn his account, but denied that he had conspired with Klock to do so.

Klock and another former bank bookkeeper, Leslie Root Jr., were indicted in June with Potter and 16 other depositors.

Root has pleaded guilty to a charge of conspiracy. In an earlier trial, Klock was convicted on a charge of making false entries in the bank's books. The 16 depositors are awaiting trial.

FREE WORLD LOSING WAR OF IDEAS TO REDS, DULLES SAYS

PRINCETON, N.J., Feb. 23 (AP)—Ideas are the main weapon of Soviet Communism and the free world is losing the battle of ideas, John Foster Dulles warned last night.

The Republican expert on foreign affairs and adviser to the State Department told 1000 Princeton University alumni at their winter meeting that a revolutionary spirit grips more than half of the human race.

"There are passions," he declared, "that cannot be allayed by oil royalties or suppressed by foreign guns."

"The Communism of Soviet Russia and its satellites represents today the active, dynamic element and the free world represents the static passive element," Dulles added. "The dynamic usually prevails over the static, the active over the passive."

He said that huge sums for armaments and foreign aid will not avail if the United States and the rest of the free world fail to shift toward a positive rather than a defensive attitude. Prospects of the total international situation are not encouraging today from the standpoint of the free world because any suggestion of a positive attitude evokes cries of alarm, Dulles added.

PARIS OFFICE SAYS EISENHOWER ISN'T PLANNING U.S. TRIP

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (UP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Paris headquarters announced today that he does not plan to return to the United States "in the foreseeable future" to seek the Republican presidential nomination.

The Atlantic Pact headquarters said Eisenhower plans to visit Greece and Turkey early next month.

Eisenhower has turned down several pleas of political backers that he return and campaign for the G.O.P. nomination.

However, Senator Frank Carlson (Rep.), Kansas, said at Asheville, N. C., last night that he believed Eisenhower would return to the United States to discuss political issues before the Republican national convention in July.

NEED FOR BUILDING WORKERS EXPECTED TO DROP BY 400,000

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—New construction will require about 400,000 fewer workers this year than last, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said today. Even so, it added, workers on new construction will average about 2,000,000 a month, making 1952 the fifth year in a row to hit that mark.

The decline springs mainly from metals and materials shortages, the report said.

Private new construction is expected to average between 1,375,000 and 1,400,000 jobs, smallest number since 1946. On the other hand, anticipated public construction labor needs, at 650,000 to 675,000, would be the highest since 1943.

STRIKING STREET CLEANERS DISCHARGED BY LOUISVILLE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 23 (AP)—Louisville's 400 garbage collectors, street cleaners and park workmen who struck for higher wages yesterday, were discharged later by the city.

However, Mayor Charles P. Farnsley said the men have until Monday to re-apply for work. He said the city does not recognize the workers' right to strike and will start Monday recruiting new men to fill vacancies.

Big Game Hunter Killed.

NAIROBI, Kenya, Feb. 23 (AP)—Victor Bentley, one of Kenya's leading big game hunters, was killed today when the tractor with trailer he was driving overturned 30 miles from here. The owner of the equipment, American sportsman Vernon S. Beck, escaped unharmed.

AIR FORCE MOVE FOR OWN SUPPLY SYSTEM CHARGED

Lovett to Be Questioned on Separation of 'Unified' Services in House Inquiry.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Secretary of Defense Lovett will be called on after his return from Lisbon to explain what some Congressmen say is a plan for further separating the "unified" armed services.

Chairman Bonner (Dem.), North Carolina, said his House Expenditures subcommittee has seen a Pentagon document in Berlin, directing the Air Force to establish its own supply system, its own corps of engineers and other special services. These have been furnished in the past by the Army.

Representative Brownson (Rep.), Indiana, said the cost of setting up separate Air Force services "runs into billions of dollars."

Bonner said the subcommittee will hear Lovett, Chairman Small of the Munitions Board and the three service secretaries in a closed session.

The question arose at an open hearing yesterday, and Bonner suddenly changed the subject with the statement "We'll have to discuss these things in executive session."

Implication in Shift.

The implication was the subcommittee had picked up additional information of a security nature on its trip last year to the Far East and Europe. Bonner told reporters he saw the Pentagon documen in Germany.

The subcommittee investigated a wide range of subjects yesterday in continuing its campaign against waste and duplication in the military establishment. It will continue hearings next Wednesday, with Karl R. Bendetsen, assistant secretary of the Army, as the main witness.

Bonner opened yesterday's hearing by saying the unification act made the Secretary of Defense responsible for eliminating duplication in the operation of the armed services.

The subcommittee contends that many purchasing practices, including the two-billion-dollar annual clothing program, mean expensive duplication.

Archibald S. Alexander, under secretary of the Army, told the subcommittee he did not believe there was any unnecessary duplication in present practices. He also said, in response to questioning, that his department had ample authority, without further congressional action, to cut down waste. He said progress is being made.

Unaware of Pentagon Document.

Alexander said he did not know of the Pentagon document expanding Air Force facilities. He said the Army and the Air Force had agreed to only a limited separation of special functions.

Brownson told a reporter that the two services agreed last July to separate the supply system, engineers corps, ordnance, chemical warfare and signal corps activities. The Pentagon document set up a timetable, with Oct. 1, 1951, as the date for the new supply system, he said.

The additional cost, Brownson said, would come from added warehouses, separate transportation methods, additional personnel and a larger amount of goods in the "pipeline."

Brownson said the subcommittee found that in Japan, the supply base for Korea, the Air Force was trying to set up its "own supply empire." He said it wanted its own system of trans-Pacific shipment, instead of the present system by which all military items are handled together until they reach Japan.

U.S. PAYS HEAVILY FOR MISTAKES ON AIRBASES ABROAD, SENATOR ASSERTS

Hunt Says Greenland Field Has Cost $100,000,000, Is Not Finished — French Tax U.S. Materials.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Senator Hunt (Dem.), Wyoming, said today the United States "is paying through the nose" for a lot of mistakes on a multi-million dollar program of overseas airbases.

Hunt is chairman of a Senate Defense Investigating subcommittee digging into charges of waste and extravagance in construction of secret airbases in North Africa and in Greenland near the North Pole.

Public hearings are suspended until late next week to allow investigators to cull through reports by experts on the overseas projects.

Costly Greenland Base.

Hunt said testimony so far indicates that the Greenland base near the North Pole, known by the code name of "Blue Jay," had cost more than $100,000,000 and although in good shape and now operating is still not completed.

Hunt said his group also expects to pry deeper into protests that French officials in Morocco, site of the North African bases, are insisting on taxing United States material and equipment shipped in for the jobs.

Brig. Gen. J. C. Hardin of the Army Engineers, who are handling the airbase construction through private contractors, said he had protested to the French-appointed governor of Morocco against efforts to tax United States supplies and equipment.

Hardin said the tax disputes now are being negotiated in Paris, presumably by State Department spokesmen.

'Urgent' Tag on Bases.

Hunt said the United States Chiefs of Staff put an urgent tag on the African bases shortly after the Communist invasion in Korea in June 1950, apparently because "the military leaders feared Russia might jump into Europe, the Middle East or Africa as the Communists did in Korea."

Lt. Gen. Lewis A. Pick, chief of Army Engineers, testified the Air Force kept this urgent label on the African bases from late 1950 until December of last year, or until six months after the first two bases were partly complete.

Pick disputed statements by Downey Rice, special attorney for the committee, that the original cost of six African bases estimated at $300,000,000 eventually may run as high as $420,000,000.

General Angry.

The veteran general flushed with anger when Rice asked what steps the engineer corps had taken to end waste and corruption on the African projects.

"We assume Americans are honest until we find they are not honest," Pick said tartly.

Pick denied there was "haphazardness in carrying out the program" in North Africa and said that when all difficulties are considered "I think they turned out a pretty good performance."

He said two of the rush air bases were able to handle Air Force planes last July 14 and he had commendations from Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg and other top Air Force officers on the project.

Chairman Hunt said testimony convinces him that "substandard materials" went into some of the hurriedly constructed African bases but that when the haste and size of the projects are considered there was "not too much dishonesty."

BRITISH BOOKIES PROTEST FORMALLY ON HIGH TAXES

LONDON, Feb. 23 (AP)—British bookies protested last night against high taxes.

The National Joint Committee of Bookmakers sent a formal complaint to the government saying half the bookies who have been handling bets on dog races here have been forced out of business.

J. A. Boyd-Carpenter, financial secretary to the Treasury, agreed to think it over.

Fighting Tenement Fire

—By a Post-Dispatch Staff Photographer.

Firemen fighting a blaze which damaged the attic and roof of a three-story tenement building at the southeast corner of Eleventh and O'Fallon streets yesterday. Damage was estimated at $2500. Light snow hampered the firemen. None of the occupants was hurt.

SMALL PLANE LOST IN FOG DISRUPTS TRAFFIC AT AIRPORT

Operations at Lambert-St. Louis Field were halted for about two hours last night as airport officials attempted to reach by radio the pilot of a single-engine plane lost in a heavy fog, which reduced the ceiling to less than 500 feet.

The low-flying plane was first heard by residents of the Alton-Wood River area on the East Side about 8 p.m., the Civil Aeronautics Administration reported. A half hour later uneasy residents of Affton began calling the airport and St. Louis county sheriff's office to inquire about the plane.

Flight schedules were suspended at the airport to prevent a possible collision. Crash equipment was placed in readiness on the field. Efforts were made to call the pilot by radio and his erratic progress over Affton, Pine Lawn, Jennings and Clayton was followed on the Navy radar screen.

Radar contact with the plane was lost by 10:55 p.m. and flight schedules were resumed. No further report was received, although CAA officials estimated that the plane's fuel supply was about exhausted.

'POOR' VICE RATING OF CITY REJECTED BY HYGIENE GROUP

The "poor" rating, which St. Louis received in the latest survey of vice conditions by the American Social Hygiene Association, is not justified by the facts, the association was informed this week by its local branch, the Missouri Hygiene Association.

St. Louis was listed among 32 communities classified as "poor" after investigators for the association reported they found "a feeling that vice was about to open up." This impression was obtained, it was learned, after an investigator interviewed barmaids, taxicab drivers and tavern operators. Previously the city had received one rating of "fair" and all others were "good."

A letter sent to Dr. Charles W. Clarke, of New York, executive director of the American Social Hygiene Association, by the Missouri association pointed out that the expected "loosening up" has not materialized. "The 'poor' rating is not justified and our observations show no increase in vice here," the letter observed.

CASHED $1560 IN FORGED CHECKS, HOLDUP MAN ADMITS

Ernest Young, robbery suspect held by police since Tuesday, has admitted forging and cashing about $1560 in checks stolen from two local business firms last month, police reported today. Previously he admitted participating in 18 holdups here and elsewhere.

The checks were taken from M. C. Slater Inc., 1129 Bremen avenue, a trucking firm, and the LaSalle Iron Works, 3110 LaSalle street, police said. A total of 26 were cashed. Young was quoted as saying he ran them through each company's check-writing machine to make them look authentic.

Police said Young's wife, Dorothy, also held, has admitted helping him cash the checks. Young, who lives in the 3400 block of West Pine boulevard, 12 holdups here, one at Festus, Mo., two in El Paso, Tex., and three in Los Angeles. A brother-in-law, Richard L. Smock, also is under arrest as a robbery suspect.

GAMBLER CONVICTED BY JURY OF EVADING $38,469 IN TAXES

CARSON CITY, Nev., Feb. 23 (AP)—A United States District Court jury last night convicted a San Francisco and Nevada gambler, Elmer (Bones) Remmer, on four counts of evading $38,469 in income taxes for himself and his wife in 1944 and 1945. The jury failed to agree on two other counts accusing Remmer of evading $122,218 in 1946 taxes.

Maximum penalty on each count is five years, or a $10,000 fine, or both.

One of two women on the jury, Mrs. Sarah N. Parker, fainted and had to be carried from the courthouse.

The verdict ended the longest United States District Court trial in Nevada history. It began last November.

DUPO MAN IS KILLED WHEN AUTOS COLLIDE

2 Also Hurt—Car Skids After Driver Tries to Get It Back on Road.

Gerhardt Hooch of Dupo was killed and two other persons injured in an automobile collision last night on Illinois Highway 3, just south of Dupo.

Earl C. Haskenhoff, East Carondelet, in whose machine Hooch was riding, suffered a serious head injury and was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis.

State police said Haskenhoff lost control of his automobile when it left the pavement on a curve and he swerved sharply to guide it back on the highway. It skidded into the path of a machine driven by Roman H. Wood of Dupo, approaching from the opposite direction. Wood was treated at the hospital for minor injuries and released. Hooch was 31 years old.

'LOVE, DIPLOMACY' IN CLASS ADVISED BY EX-TEACHER, 95

Miss Annie Laurie Matthews, 95 years old, believes she would have no trouble with the so-called "wild youth" of today if she were to take up her teaching duties again.

Methods that she employed to gain the respect of students at Beaumont and Central high schools are still as modern as ever, she said yesterday. The former teacher, who is confined to her room at the Bernard Nursing Home, 4385 Maryland avenue, taught here for 57 years.

"Young people respond readily to the use of love and diplomacy by their instructors," she declared. "Friends I made in the classroom years ago still come to visit me. They have not forgotten."

EAST ST. LOUIS PEACE JUSTICES AGREE ON POLICE WEEK PLAN

An agreement has been reached by the four justices of the peace and the police magistrate of East St. Louis to relieve each other during police week in order to stop criticism that their clerks and assistants were accepting fines during their absences, it was announced today.

For one week out of five, each justice of the peace serves as police judge and is on call 24 hours a day for that week. The St. Clair county grand jury found that during absences from the bench the justices permitted their clerks to levy the standard fines for traffic offenses and certain common misdemeanors.

As a result of the grand jury criticism, the justices decided to help each other during police week so that at all times a justice of the peace would be available to accept fines and set bonds. The new arrangement becomes effective immediately.

ARSENAL BUS ROUTE CHANGED WHILE PIPELINE IS INSTALLED

A temporary change will be made in the route of the Arsenal bus line, starting Monday, because of the installation of a pipe line by Laclede Gas Co. on Arsenal street between Ninth and Thirteenth streets.

Eastbound busses, instead of proceeding directly on Arsenal to Broadway, for the next two weeks will turn on Thirteenth to Wyoming avenue, then proceed east to Seventh street, north to Arsenal and east to Broadway.

On westbound trips, the busses will run on Wyoming from Broadway to Thirteenth, then north to Arsenal and over the regular route.

GROCERY OWNER LOSES $200 IN EARLY MORNING HOLDUP

Emil Vincent, proprietor of a grocery at 4825 Northland avenue, reported to police he was robbed of $200 by an armed man who entered his store shortly after Vincent opened today.

The robber, a Negro, threatened to kill the grocer if he resisted. After Vincent gave the man $175 from a trouser pocket and $25 from the register, the robber also took his wallet which contained checks. Vincent, alone in the store, was then locked in a rear room and was released a half hour later by a customer.

ROBERTS TO FIGHT ANY CHALLENGE ON DELAY IN SHAKE-UP

Police Board Head's Statement Follows Report Other Members Will Contest Powers.

Police Board President Maurice G. Roberts said today he was prepared to fight any challenge by other board members of his authority to hold up the proposed transfer of 17 captains and lieutenants, which has raised a storm of public protest.

"I know what my powers are, and my position is backed up by an opinion from the city counselor," Roberts, a veteran attorney and former general counsel for the Frisco Railroad, said.

Roberts made the statement following a report that the other three regular board members, Charles H. Ostertag, Nicholas A. Reidy and Daniel G. Church, may question the authority of Roberts to continue to delay the transfers. Mayor Joseph M. Darst, ex officio member of the Police Board, has sided with Roberts in the controversy.

The weekly meeting of the board was canceled yesterday because of the legal holiday. Chief of Police Jeremiah O'Connell, who was not consulted originally on the transfers, may have ready his report and recommendations on the 17 transfers, and any other changes he thinks are indicated in department personnel, for presentation at the meeting next Friday.

Roberts believes that, while the board is required to act on changes within the department, the police commissioners should be guided by the chief's recommendations.

Ostertag, vice president of the board, denied a report that he, Reidy and Church had retained counsel and have received an opinion that Roberts is without authority to hold up the transfers.

"That is not correct," Ostertag asserted. He also denied that he and Church plan to confer next Wednesday with Gov. Forrest Smith at Jefferson City.

"I know nothing about that," Ostertag observed. "I have no plan to see the Governor." Members of the St. Louis police and election boards are appointed by the Governor.

Ostertag said he "is satisfied" the transfers would be on the board agenda next Friday, but declined to speculate on the probable action of the commissioners. "I wouldn't care to comment on that now," Ostertag said.

GANGSTERS BEING QUESTIONED BY POLICE RELEASED ON WRIT

Tony Giardano and Ralph Calico, notorious gangsters, arrested for questioning by police Thursday, were released on a writ of habeas corpus yesterday by Circuit Judge Robert L. Aronson.

Giardano, who carried $3226 in cash, and Calico, who had $214, were picked up at Sixth and Market streets. Their release was ordered after Assistant Circuit Attorney Raymond Bruntrager informed the court there was no evidence on which to base charges.

Giardano, 37 years old, gave an address in the 5500 block of Palm street. Calico, 52, said he lives in the 1100 block of North Tenth street.

RUSSELL A. CONZELMAN DIES; ARCHITECT HERE FOR 30 YEARS

Russell A. Conzelman, an architect here for more than 30 years, died yesterday at Jewish Hospital, following a heart attack at his home, 17 Hanley Downs, Richmond Heights.

Funeral services will be Monday at 1 p.m. at the Lupton undertaking establishment, 7233 Delmar boulevard, University City. Burial will be in Oak Grove Cemetery.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Frances Conzelman; a son, William R., and two daughters, Mrs. Betty McKelvey of Belleville, Ill., and Mrs. Jane Maguire of Cincinnati.

CALLANAN TO SEEK SECOND 4-YEAR TERM AS SHERIFF

Sheriff Thomas F. Callanan, north side Democratic leader, announced yesterday he will seek the Democratic nomination in the Aug. 5 primary election to succeed himself for a second four-year term.

He is the first St. Louisan to seek a second consecutive term as sheriff since the Missouri constitution was revised in 1945 to permit successive terms in the office.

Callanan, who served as coroner before being elected sheriff in 1948, lives at 6067 West Florissant avenue. He is 52 years old.

MRS. WILLIAM FRIEND FUNERAL

Funeral services for Mrs. William E. Friend, 4622A Moraine avenue, will be at 8:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Kraeger-Fenwick undertaking establishment, 3402 North Kingshighway boulevard. Burial will be in Cleveland, O.

Mrs. Friend, whose husband is chairman of the board of the North Side Y.M.C.A. and president of the congregation of Bethany Evangelical and Reformed Church, died yesterday of influenza at her home. Her husband is the only immediate survivor.

FIRE DESTROYS COUNTY HOME

The four-room frame home of Russell Weinzierl, 10560 (rear) Oak avenue, St. Louis county, was destroyed yesterday by fire. Firemen said apparently it started from an oil stove. No one was at home when flames were seen by neighbors.

Firemen estimated damage at $5000.

COMPROMISE HINT IN CONGRESSIONAL REDISTRICTING

Senate Floor Leaders Express Willingness to Work for Accord, Skeptical of Results.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 23—The Democratic and Republican Senate floor leaders today expressed willingness to attempt to work out a compromise congressional redistricting law, but indicated they did not think such a move would be successful.

Talk of a compromise was revived yesterday after Gov. Forrest Smith disclosed he was holding up the signing of the pending redistricting bill in the hope that the two parties could agree to a new plan and forestall the threatened election of Missouri Congressmen at large this year.

G.O.P. Concession.

Senator R. Jasper Smith of Springfield, Republican minority leader, said the Republicans would accept a plan which gave them three strong districts and made two others "actually doubtful" politically. The minority charged that the pending plan would give the Republicans only two of the state's 11 new congressional districts.

Senator Smith said, however, the Democrats had never made an official offer of compromise on the issue, and that the Republicans would not stop circulation of petitions calling for submission of the pending bill to the voters, for approval or rejection in a special election.

Effect of the referendum would be to suspend the redistricting bill passed by the Democratic-controlled legislature, and force congressional candidates to run at large throughout the state instead of by districts.

Chamier Willing.

Senator Richard J. Chamier of Moberly, Democratic leader, declared he was willing to attempt to work out a "fair" compromise, but doubted an agreement could be reached because the Republicans "want too much."

He charged the minority wanted a redistricting law which would assure the re-election of the four Republican incumbents in Congress.

The number of Missouri members of the national House of Representatives has been cut from 13 to 11, and Chamier charged the Republicans with attempting to force the Democrats to suffer the loss of both seats.

MEDAL OF HONOR FOR HEROIC DEATH IN 2 LONE ATTACKS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—The Medal of Honor has been awarded to a Wisconsin soldier whose heroic death inspired his comrades to capture a Red stronghold he twice had charged alone.

He was Second Lt. Jerome A. Sudut, 23 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Sudut, Wausau, Wis. He enlisted in the Army in March 1946, and served in the Far East command two years before returning there in August 1950.

He was killed Sept. 12, 1951, two months after he received a battlefield commission.

When his men were pinned down by enemy fire, Sudut twice charged up a hill alone. He was wounded each time, the second time fatally.

ANTHONY J. (TONY) STOCKER FUNERAL SERVICES MONDAY

Funeral services for Anthony J. (Tony) Stocker, former East St. Louis chief of detectives and justice of the peace, will be Monday at 9 a.m. at Holy Angels Catholic Church, 3722 Caseyville avenue, East St. Louis, with burial in Mount Carmel Cemetery.

Stocker, who in later years was the operator of a downtown tavern, died yesterday of a heart ailment at his home, 1720 North Thirty-sixth street. While a member of the police force he was credited with installing the Bertillon system of criminal identification and the first method of fingerprinting.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Orletta Stocker; two sons, James C. and Anthony F. Stocker; a daughter, Mrs. Charles G. Kruckemeyer; two brothers and a sister.

COAST GUARD RESERVE UNIT RECEIVES MEMBERSHIP AWARD

A certificate was received by the St. Louis Coast Guard Reserve Unit last night for 100 per cent membership in the Reserve Officers' Association. The unit was the first in Missouri to receive the award.

It was presented by Maj. F. P. Carson, Air Force, president of the Missouri department of the association, at an open house at the United States Naval and Marine Corps Reserve Armory at the foot of Ferry street.

About 200 relatives and friends of members of the Coast Guard Reserve Unit attended the open house, held in observance of Washington's birthday and in conjunction with National Defense week. Demonstrations of training drills were given.

USE OF '3D DEGREE' TO GET CONFESSION BY REESE DENIED

Police Captain Testifying in Hotel Murder Trial Is Questioned on Duress.

Police used "no third-degree methods whatsoever" in obtaining from Samuel Norbert Reese a confession of the murder of John E. Krieger, room clerk, in a holdup at the Windsor Hotel Nov. 15, Capt. Elias Hoagland of the Ruskin avenue station testified today.

Capt. Hoagland was the first witness as state testimony continued in the trial of Reese for murder. The trial is before a jury in the court of Circuit Judge Robert L. Aronson. It is expected to continue into next week.

The confession, put into evidence Thursday despite defense counsel objection that it had been made under duress, was attacked today in cross-examination of Capt. Hoagland.

Hoagland, under questioning by Cecil Block, said he was present at the Ruskin avenue station Nov. 16 at two interrogations of Reese in connection with the Windsor Hotel holdup and the attempted holdup of a liquor store a few hours later. Reese and a companion were arrested at the store.

Reese made an oral statement between 11 p.m. and midnight, and Hoagland left the station at midnight, the officer testified. He acknowledged that any confession signed and dated Nov. 16 would be in error.

Defense counsel Cecil Block then handed Hoagland the written confession, and the officer read aloud the date on it — Nov. 16.

Detective Sgt. Frank Ruff of the police department's laboratory staff testified for nearly four hours yesterday. He told the jury the bullet which killed the hotel clerk, Krieger, had been fired from the Luger automatic pistol which Reese admitted carrying the night of the murder.

Markings on the steel-jacketed slugs recovered at the scene corresponded with those on test bullets fired from Reese's pistol at the police laboratory, he testified.

ARRESTED FOR SALE OF CIGARETTES WITHOUT STAMPS

Harry Rosenblum, operator of a drug store at 2101 Market street, was arrested today on a charge of failing to affix city cigarette tax stamps after inspectors from the license collector's office found in the store 60 cartons of cigarettes which bore no tax stamps.

The arrest was made after one inspector entered the store and purchased a package of cigarettes, which he saw had no stamp when Rosenblum handed it to him. Search of the store disclosed the other cigarettes under the counter.

License Collector Joseph T. Hayden has been "cracking down" on evaders of the 2-cent-a-package city tax in recent months. Revenue from the tax during the first 10 months of the current fiscal year was $54,000 under the total received during the corresponding period last year.

Jazz Invades Communist Fold.

MOSCOW, Feb. 23 (UP)—Russia's Young Communist League has become infested with "jazz boys of cafe society" who shun work and dye their hair gray at the temples to give themselves an appearance of distinction, Komsomolskaya Pravda, organ of the league, complained today.

SCHOOL ATTACKS COULD BE AVERTED, EDUCATORS AGREE

"saved a great many people from starvation."

"The environment in which we are living," he said, "is for the first time in history different from that of previous generations."

Horne's comment was in elaboration of a remark by the aviation group's national president, Dr. Finis E. Engleman, Connecticut commissioner of education, who said "the air age has created problems which can be solved only with air-age thinking."

Transport Progress.

Dr. Engleman pointed out that in his own lifetime the world had moved from the horse-drawn transport familiar in Nebuchadnezzar's day to the airplane. "Is there any wonder," he asked, "that we are psychopathic cases?"

The Connecticut educator said men must recognize that they cannot get security by resisting change and "must beware of people who are clinging to something given them by a condition of the past."

John Furbay, director of "Air World Education" for Trans-World Airlines, said the airplane had opened up two thirds of the globe's area not accessible before, quickening a process of political and intellectual fermentation in backward areas.

Sounds Warning.

The National School Boards Association, meeting at Hotel Statler, was addressed last night by Dr. Virgil M. Rogers, superintendent of schools at Battle Creek, Mich., and the incoming president of the A.A.S.A. He warned against weaknesses "ever present in a national and world program of mobilization and regimentation."

At a business meeting, the school boards convention defeated by vote of 27 to 19 a resolution opposing federal aid to states for educational purposes. The resolution was offered by the delegation from Texas. A heated debate preceded the vote.

F. H. Trotter of Chattanooga, Tenn., was re-elected president of the school boards association for his second term.

TWO MASKED MEN HOLD UP STORE OWNER AND CUSTOMERS

August Berlemann, proprietor of a confectionery at 1320 Tamm avenue, and two customers were robbed of $59 by two armed men last night, the victims reported to police.

The robbers, both wearing handkerchief masks, forced Berlemann, his wife and three customers into the back room. They took $50 from a cigar box, $4 from James Mouldman, 6534 Nashville avenue, and $5 from Mrs. Mary R. Smith, 1343 Graham avenue.

WOMAN DRIVER HURT IN CRASH

Mrs. Carl W. Johns of Pacific was in serious condition at St. Louis County Hospital today with injuries suffered yesterday in an accident on the United States Highway 66 bridge over the Meramec river at Times Beach.

Mrs. Johns's light truck, going east, skidded on the wet surface of the bridge into the railing and rebounded against another eastbound automobile that was passing her. The second machine was driven by Ralph Ender of Eureka. Mrs. Johns suffered fractures of the right shoulder and wrist.

MINE OPERATORS, UNIONS INVITED TO GIVE SAFETY IDEAS

Scheduled to Appear Monday or Tuesday at Inquiry Into Illinois Disaster.

By a Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 23—The Illinois Mining Investigation Commission has invited representatives of the coal mine operators and the mine unions to state publicly what they think should be done to strengthen the state's mine safety laws.

The commission, resuming its hearings on the explosion which took 120 lives in Orient Mine No. 2 near West Frankfort last Dec. 21, is to hear federal inspectors Monday.

Chairman Sam Cape yesterday asked the coal operators and the mine unions to present their views next Tuesday or Wednesday. The request was made in telegrams sent to Harry Treadwell, president of the Illinois Coal Operators' Association; Walter Gill, head of the Illinois Coal Producers' Association; Hugh White, Illinois district president of the United Mine Workers, and George Baima, president of the Progressive Mine Workers.

James B. Martin, special counsel for the commission, said others asked to testify next week are Prof. Harold L. Walker, head of the mining department at the University of Illinois, who is a special advisor to Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson; state mine inspectors, and representatives of two firms which produce compressd air machinery used in cutting coal in the Orient mine.

The commission, which held initial hearings at Benton near the blast-torn mine, is assembling data on which to base recommendations for revision of the Illinois mine code.

HOSPITAL OPERATING COSTS UP SHARPLY HERE IN 6 YEARS

Hospital operating costs in St. Louis have more than doubled in the last six years, but average costs here still are below the national average, Dr. Maynard W. Martin, administrator of St. Luke's Hospital, told members of the Men's Club of Grace Presbyterian Church, Ridge and Clara avenues, last night.

At St. Luke's the average cost per patient per day last year was $18.22, compared with $8.50 in 1946, but in some cities, where larger salaries are paid, costs run as high as $25, he said.

"Even with the high cost of care today the total cost to the patient is often no greater than in the days when rates were lower," Dr. Martin said. "Patients are often back at work much earlier than formerly, and illness has made a smaller inroad in the family income."

NEW RALSTON PURINA PLANT

A solvent processing plant for the production of soybean meal is to be erected by the Ralston Purina Co., in Kansas City, replacing an expeller plant connected with a chow mill there, Donald Danforth, president of the company, announced yesterday. The new process is more efficient, he said.

Danforth also stated that the company had purchased Shellabarger Mills, Inc., at Decatur, Ill., which owned a solvent plant and nine rural elevators for storage of soybeans.

A Trend, and a Big Job

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

As a country dweller and admirer of the 4-H clubs and the valuable work done by the young members, it is discouraging to learn, particularly during Brotherhood Week, that 330,000 Negro 4-H members in 17 Southern states were denied their democratic right to participate in the National 4-H Club Congress at Chicago.

From North Carolina, for example, 28 white boys and girls attended the Congress, all expenses paid, and represented 130,000 club members. This figure, however, included 45,000 Negroes—not permitted to compete!

On the other hand, it is encouraging to read that the Fort Bragg School for the children of Army personnel is a non-segregated school, whose staff is pledged to democratic teaching, co-operation, development of leadership in both Negroes and whites, and other goals toward the advancement of a true democracy, free of prejudice and racial discrimination. This mature and enlightened program has already proved itself successful.

And there are other heartening trends toward a genuine brotherhood in our country, including the once Solid South. They are expressed in the acceptance of Negroes in law, medicine, education, industry, and other fields. Latest surveys show that more progress has been made in the last 10 years toward equality and the ending of discrimination than in the previous 30 years.

But there are trends toward regression, too, in the form of hate and brutality—terrifying in their fascist expression: the Christmas murders at Mims, Fla., the nearby acts of terror and violence at Cairo, Ill. Yet for the first time in history, whites and Negroes sat together in concert halls at Miami and Jacksonville, Fla., to hear the concert star, Marian Anderson. And nearby in East St. Louis there are no longer segregated public schools.

Yet there remains the lurking threat of the fascist few to divide and conquer the democratic many—unless we continue the progressive trend to equality of opportunity for all. Let us work to make the trend a permanent democratic reality! And let us remember—there's still a big job to do!

Year Around Brotherhood

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

It is impossible for Negroes to believe in Brotherhood Week, when people do not practice it. Brotherhood hypocrisy has more holes in it than Swiss cheese. You can see right through it. Brotherhood is a teaching that has to be practiced all year round, not scantily practiced for one week.

Soaring in the Stratosphere

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

I am a small business man, and note with a certain amount of glee that the steelmakers "fear" a surplus. I also know now that they, as well as Washington spokesmen, were dishing out poppycock a few short weeks ago when they told us the shortage was "critical."

What the steelmakers, and the New Dealers really fear is a return to a normal civilian economy and a loss of altitude from the stratosphere in which they have been soaring.

We cannot kill the law of supply and demand. If we do, we are not a free people. Thank God this law is the fundamental law of barter and exchange.

A Living Investment

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

It seems the stock market goes down every time there is talk of peace.

If it is just prosperity we are thinking about let us forget the market and think about our boys in Korea. We all would rather have our boys saved at any cost to the investors in stocks.

Basis for Taxes?

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Why not abolish the personal property tax? If I save in order to buy a piano for my children, why must I at some time sell it to pay taxes on it?

If I plan and save for a lifetime to buy a small home, why, in my declining years, must I be forced to sell it for taxes? Because my income is limited?

Why not substitute a straight income tax? Then, if I am unemployed, I owe no taxes! Collect taxes on the basis of ability to pay.

Careful of Its People

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:

Kindly inducement to respect law is embodied by a man in uniform, alert and vigilant. I would say in all kindness that St. Louis impresses me as a town careful of all people within its boundaries.

I have never investigated as to the automobile fatalities on your streets or the record for the state, but with only observation to guide me, I would be willing to bet that your record for accidents and slaughter is far below that of my own Hoosier state and city.

One Plan Too Many

Nearly everybody in St. Louis will agree with Director of Streets Frank Kriz, who told a congressional committee in Washington this week that the city urgently needs expressways to relieve traffic congestion. Since federal highway aid is to be available for use in cities, nearly everybody would also agree that some of these funds should be applied to expressway construction.

A sound expressway plan is therefore an item of urgent business for St. Louis. Does the city have one?

As a matter of fact, the city has two expressway plans. It has the expressway portion of the official city plan, which has been adopted by the Board of Aldermen as a guide to all public improvements. It also has the expressway plan recently drawn up by Malcolm Elliott on the basis of a joint city-state-federal study dealing with highways alone.

This is one plan too many. As we have pointed out before, the two plans must be reconciled, and the result should fit into the master plan for the city as a whole. It would be the worst kind of municipal housekeeping to develop a master plan and then ignore it when the chance comes to proceed with the expressway portion of it.

There are important conflicts between the expressway routes proposed by the official city plan and those proposed by Mr. Elliott. In at least one respect the Elliott plan appears highly questionable.

This is the proposal for bringing Highway 40 into the city over a route which would terminate at Twelfth and Franklin, with a possible second terminus at Twelfth and Clark. This expressway would carry not only city and suburban traffic fed into it along the route, but also heavy truck traffic and interstate passenger traffic.

What is going to happen to congestion in downtown St. Louis if traffic like that is dumped on surface streets which are already clogged? Would such an expressway relieve congestion, as Mr. Kriz says he wants to do, or intensify it?

Questions of this sort ought to be threshed out before, not after, the expressways are built. They can be settled without undue delay of construction if there is a will to settle them. Let's build expressways, but let's build expressways that will solve the city's problems, not create new ones.

In America as in Russia?

When the Russian press takes out after the Stalinabad public library because its catalogue still lists books about Tito, "the despicable renegade and lackey of American imperialism," and other characters, not to mention ideas, not 100 per cent in conformity with the latest dogmas of Kremlin orthodoxy, we are properly shocked all over again by the low estate of freedom and intelligence in the Soviet Union.

But it might be well to save at least a little of our indignation for similar efforts at thought control here in the United States. For example, Representative Harold Velde, a Republican from Pekin, Ill., wants the Library of Congress to sift every one of its more than 9,000,000 books to find those which may be subversive. Lists of the offending volumes then are to be sent to libraries all over the country. Velde's bill to force this action does not say so, but we suppose that after the lists are received bonfires are to be started in front of all libraries.

Mr. Velde, a former high school coach and FBI agent, seems to have a lower than average opinion of the good sense and loyalty of American readers. He may even be the type which suspects all people who read books. Such readers are likely to be thinkers; and they may think that their own liberties are threatened if ideas such as those of the gentleman from Pekin are allowed to spread. They may not see much difference between Mr. Velde's proposed library purge and the one in Stalinabad.

But when proposals of this sort can be seriously put before the Congress, more than a laugh is in order. Maybe somebody ought to take Mr. Velde aside and introduce him to the Declaration of Independence and the Bill of Rights. Or would he immediately denounce those documents as subversive?

Why Not a Veto?

Gov. Smith has held up signing the congressional redistricting bill. There was little likelihood that the bill could take effect in time for this year's elections even if he had signed it. For the Republicans intended to demand a referendum. This would force the election of Congressmen at large instead of by districts.

Those are the practical reasons for withholding the signature. But it should have been enough for the Governor to realize that the bill concocted by his party in the Legislature was a bad bill. It was a strictly partisan effort to protect nine of the 11 new districts for the Democrats. It short-changed urban voters by giving them less representation than in the outstate districts.

Unfortunately the Governor does not say he will veto this bill. He says he will sign it if the Democrats and Republicans do not agree on a substitute. This puts little pressure on the Democratic majority to revise the measure. And if it is intended to put pressure on the Republicans, it is not likely to succeed. They can always demand a referendum.

Gov. Smith would do much better to say plainly that he will yeto the gerrymander and call on the legislators to produce a good bill.

Chicago's Criminal Politics

Chicago has the reputation of a jaded city, but it has mustered a good deal of civic indignation over the murder of a Republican ward leader earlier this month. Committees have met, rewards have been posted, investigations have been started, loud resolutions of civic virtue have been uttered.

Nonetheless and notwithstanding, the killers of Charles Gross have not been found. What is more, two other candidates for Republican committeemen in the West Side Thirty-first ward have withdrawn from the race. Apparently they were scared stiff. What Gross got for challenging the hoodlum elements which have determined to run the Thirty-first ward Republican organization, coupled with direct threats against themselves, was enough to persuade them that politics was something to be retired from.

Criminal control of both party organizations in certain sections of Chicago is an old evil. In recent years it has been more conspicuous in the Republican party. The "West side bloc" of state legislators with proved criminal connections has grown more brazen every year. But it took a wanton killing to persuade Cook County Republican leaders to cut off the patronage of the bloc.

Do Chicago and the Republican leadership in Illinois have what it takes to stamp out this vile tie-up of politics and crime, once and for all? Or will the present storm of civic outrage, like so many before it, slowly subside, leaving the hoodlums just where they were and the political life of Chicago just as poisoned as before? Chicago's neighbors await the outcome with interest.

German Troops for the West

Secretary Acheson and the American delegation which he heads at Lisbon have brought off an achievement which is rightly described as a diplomatic triumph. Without solving either the problem of German membership in NATO or that of French security, the Americans have led the way in providing for a European army with German soldiers in it.

Without dissent the 14 NATO countries have approved the establishment of a continental army, as distinguished from the NATO forces, which would include American and British units as well. The continental army, as now approved, would consist of soldiers from France, Italy, Belgium, Holland, Luxembourg and Germany. This European army, supplemented by NATO forces, including those of the two new members, Turkey and Greece, now becomes the plan of defense against possible Communist aggression westward across Europe.

To use Gen. Eisenhower's figure, these bones still have little in the way of sinews on them. But the skeleton is on the way to filling out. German participation must be planned and arranged with greatest care. To revive a German military machine, which could turn west again as predecessors did in 1870, 1914 and 1940, would be the sheerest folly.

Let those who carry out the Lisbon agreement keep that always in mind. Ratifications by the parliaments of NATO countries all will be based on the firm expectation of a safe and sane use of German troops.

Strictly for St. Louisans

The 18 St. Louisans in the Missouri House can perform a real service for their city by forcing speedy consideration and passage of the St. Louis public school unit control bill. Since it applies solely to the system here, the fate of the measure in the House depends on the push it gets from the St. Louis delegation.

Strong community support of the bill, which would streamline school administration for greater efficiency, was demonstrated to the 12 St. Louis Representatives attending the "night school" meeting on it. The legislators ought to have come away from that gathering with the conviction the measure was both good and necessary.

One hopeful sign is the statement of Representative A. Clifford Jones of St. Louis County, co-sponsor of the House bill with Representative Fred Ray Columbo of St. Louis. "You have my guarantee," Mr. Jones said, "that if this bill is barbecued in the House the way it was in the Senate, I'll withdraw it and throw it in the wastebasket."

That sounds like the language of a man who means business. It is a far cry from the flimflam artistry and double-talk of Senator David A. Hess, who killed the proposal in the Senate. We hope Mr. Jones' determination generates similar attitudes among the St. Louisans. After all, their constituents are the ones who will benefit.

Slashing Burial Expenses

Efforts of six CIO and AFL unions in St. Louis to cut funeral costs for their members deserve more than passing attention. For the movement indicates forcefully that leaders of these local unions think burial charges in St. Louis are out of line—and way out of line at that!

Joseph Kirby, business agent of the Casket Workers' Local 187, says the average funeral bill here runs about $825. The union men, including Mr. Kirby, hope to devise a plan to slash the cost by $300 to $500. That would represent reductions of about 37 to 60 per cent!

The union leaders are examining two possibilities. One involves formation of a co-operative like that operated by the United Mine Workers' Local 1111 in the West Frankfort area. This is a unique enterprise that has helped the grief-stricken mining families in their hour of need. The other possibility involves formulation of low-cost working agreements with existing undertaking firms.

In either case, the aim is the same—to help union members stretch burial funds. If the high hopes of Mr. Kirby and his fellows are realized, a sizable benefit can accrue to the widows and orphans of union members, and perhaps even to the community at large. This would be well worth all the effort it may take to bring it about.

Bathtub Science Marches On

Sometimes the march of science thrills us through and through, and that is how we feel about the triumph of technology which has solved the problem of making bathtubs with doors in them.

Now that we are reminded of it, we seem to have been waiting for years for just this, a bathtub with a door. No simple problem it was, either. There had to be some way of sealing the door and preventing it from opening while the tub had water in it.

After we do not know how many man-hours of applied skill, this trick has been turned. The door opens only when the tub is empty. And so a new and higher standard of living seems assured for all those people who get into a bathtub when it is dry.

One Question on Mr. Morris

While all Congressmen are undoubtedly against sin, some of them are strangely none too eager to let Newbold Morris investigate it in the Federal Government. Roscoe Drummond of The Christian Science Monitor urges in today's Mirror of Public Opinion that Mr. Morris be given a fair chance to do his job.

Most of the attacks on Mr. Morris have been plainly political. But this week one question as to Mr. Morris' record reached the headlines. This concerns the amazing tanker deal which turned a $101,000 investment into a $3,250,000 profit. The Morris firm got fees from the investors and Morris himself heads a non-profit foundation which controls three of the ships.

Mr. Morris has denied making any profit out of this transaction in former public property, and has asked for an opportunity to testify about it. He cannot afford to permit any doubts as to his record when he attempts to investigate federal corruption.

Newbold Morris: Wait and See

The Mirror of Public Opinion

Most citizens hope new investigator can expose corruption in government; yet men of both parties have attacked him; some Republicans don't want to lose campaign issue and Democrats fear scandals; Morris owns independent record, should have chance to do job.

Roscoe Drummond, Chief Washington Correspondent, in The Christian Science Monitor

Most citizens—if not most politicians—will consider Newbold Morris innocent until proved guilty.

Most citizens—if not most politicians—will rightly assume that Mr. Morris, an independent Republican brought up in the LaGuardia school of clean government, is intent upon doing a constructive, fearless, heads-up job of bringing federal wrongdoing into the open until it is proved that he isn't.

Mr. Morris is beginning his assignment under the most difficult circumstances. He deserves the opportunity to show that he has the courage and the stamina and the skill to carry through before he is condemned with political epithets — or buried with political epitaphs.

Newbold Morris

This is a campaign year. While most politicians cannot restrain themselves from reaching for invective instead of fact, most citizens can refrain from being overimpressed by invective until the facts have been established; that is, until Mr. Morris has had a chance to prove by performance whether he has the qualifications and the will to do his part of the much-needed cleanup job.

It needs to be borne in mind that there are some Republican politicians who want to discredit Mr. Morris before he has even begun, who do not want the probing and the purging of the Federal Government to be really successful for fear it will rob them of a winning campaign issue.

It needs to be borne in mind that there are some Democratic politicians who want to thwart Mr. Morris before he gets very far, who do not want the investigation to be honest and uninhibited for fear it will enmesh the Administration in so much scandal it will give the opposition a winning campaign issue.

This is why Harold Ickes, whose personal integrity was unsmirched and whose knowledge of the operations of government was vast and never cynical, warned the public, in the last column he wrote before he passed on, to be on the alert against the political tendencies of both political parties when it comes to the corruption issue.

Most persons, whether they voted Democratic or Republican in the past, want Mr. Morris to expose and prosecute every instance of corruption and bad ethics and impropriety in government even if it buries the Administration in an avalanche of disgust.

Most persons, regardless of party affiliation, would like to see the promised cleanup so scorching and so complete and evil officials so routed from the federal service that the issue of corruption could be reduced to its proper proportions in the 1952 election.

This is the assignment which Mr. Morris will need to take, if it hasn't been given to him.

He is going to have a hard enough time fulfilling it without the politicians breaking out of their glass houses to attack him before he has started. At the very least, he merits a reservation of judgment until he has had time to show by action whether he is going to match promise with performance. He deserves nothing less.

President Truman said he was going to create a nonpartisan commission of experienced and distinguished private citizens to investigate and prosecute federal wrongdoers and confirmed the appointment of Judge Thomas F. Murphy to head it. The project fell through.

The President, firing Attorney General Howard McGrath's assistant in charge of tax prosecutions without consulting Mr. McGrath, later canvassed the field for another Attorney General. He failed to find what he wanted, decided he didn't want to appoint whom he found, or bowed to pressure from Mr. McGrath, and the project of replacing Mr. McGrath fell through.

Mr. Truman then determined that, as chief enforcement officer of the Government, Mr. McGrath was the man to take "continued drastic action" against federal corruption—wherever necessary, as he said.

Now Mr. Morris is Mr. McGrath's special cleanup assistant and has been in office a matter of hours.

In the wake of these developments and as a subordinate to Mr. McGrath, Mr. Morris may find some locked doors or some locked records or some would-be intimidations and no-trespassing signs along his path.

But Mr. Morris's record in dealing with matters of this kind does not suggest that he is intimidated easily or that no-trespassing hints necessarily will deter him.

As The Christian Science Monitor's New York bureau has reported, Mr. Morris was publishing information about New York gangsters long before the Senate Crime Investigating Committee appeared on the scene. And in his 1949 campaign for Mayor, he named Frank Costello as the real boss of the city and said that because of his power "every mobster, every extortioner, every bookmaker feels safe as long as O'Dwyer is in City Hall."

Mr. O'Dwyer was given the balm of an ambassadorial appointment to Mexico by President Truman, but he was given no balm by Mr. Morris.

Those who know him best believe Mr. Morris will insist upon the necessary freedom of action to do his job fully and fearlessly—or he will throw it back in the President's lap.

It Really Is Hot Up There

From Science News Letter

The earth's atmosphere is bigger—and hotter—than has previously been estimated.

Scientists of a non-profit organization doing research for government agencies, the Rand Corporation, have put together all the scientific information about the earth's atmosphere.

Here are some of the startling facts their research has indicated:

The earth's atmosphere extends to a distance of 10,000 to 15,000 miles out from the surface of the earth.

From 400 miles out on to the outer reaches of the atmosphere, there is a uniform temperature of some 4000 degrees Fahrenheit. This, despite the fact that at some 50 miles from the earth the temperature is about 50 degrees below zero Fahrenheit.

Ten thousand miles above the earth, the atmosphere has a pressure 1,000,000,000,000,000,000 (a billion billion) times smaller than it is at sea level. Best man-made vacuum pumps do not approach this low pressure.

Just beyond the atmosphere, outer space is filled with highly rarefied hydrogen gas at a temperature of 18,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

Gases in the atmosphere are pretty much the same at 200 miles as they are on the surface, largely nitrogen and oxygen. Above 200 miles the nitrogen increases until an altitude of 2000 to 3000 miles is reached. Here the atmosphere is mainly nitrogen. Above 4000 miles altitude, however, the nitrogen decreases rapidly.

At some 10,000 miles above the earth, where the pressure is many times less than that in any vacuum pump, there are about a million atoms in air per cubic foot. This means that the atoms are about an eighth of an inch apart.

Amorous Whirligigs

NELL GWYN, ROYAL MISTRESS, by John H. Wilson. (Pellegrini & Cudahy, 309 pgs., $4.)

Maurice Dolbier in the Providence Sunday Journal.

In the preface to his last great comedy, George Bernard Shaw said that the "sordid facts of Charles II's reign and his Solomonic polygamy" were intolerably stale: "The spectacle of Charles sitting with his arm around Nell Gwyn's waist, or with Moll Davis sitting on his knee, with the voluptuous termagant Castlemaine raging in the background, has no interest for me, if it ever had for any grown-up person." He brought Nelly, Castlemaine and another of Charles' mistresses on the stage "to relieve the intellectual tension," but he invented some wonderfully lively Shavian lines for them to speak.

Prof. Wilson, being an honest historian, has not invented dialogue for his heroine. Although her contemporaries agreed that she was witty, they seldom recorded any examples of that wit, and whatever snatches of her conversations have come drifting down the centuries to us do little to prove them right. Her latest biographer has zealously garnered these examples, but they are mostly as flat as the quotations in last month's gossip columns. Alas, we are too late in time to hear Nell saying her "graceful things . . . with such an air, so gay," with irresistible gestures and with laughter in her eyes.

And the Restoration period itself! Surely it was not only because of the puritanical streak in Shaw that he found no pleasure in the amorous whirligigs of the Stuart Court, and when he wrote a play about Charles made it interesting and fresh by writing about what might have happened to Charles but did not. Prof. Wilson perforce confines his study to what did happen at the court which, although it included a few exceptional individuals, was mostly a dull and vicious place, housing a set of petty ruffians and belaced and bewigged guttersnipes whose humor was brutal and whose lives were a meaningless muddle of waste, corruption and lechery.

In comparison with the rest of this rout, Nell Gwynn was a paragon of loyalty and virtue, loving only one man at a time, less mercenary and far more honest than her competitors. Her success story—the rise from the slums of Covent Garden to the mansions of Windsor—is told in a straightforward unexciting fashion by Prof. Wilson, who furnishes a wealth of detail about his principal subject—what cosmetics she used, what she paid her servants, how much it cost to feed her horses—and a helpful background of the political, military, social and theatrical history of the Restoration era.

The Social Whirl

I NEVER GREW UP, by Cobina Wright. (Prentice Hall, 316 pgs., $3.75.)

The array of celebrities whose photographs confront you on the jacket of this book—President Truman, King Peter of Yugoslavia, Prince Philip and others—are but a sampling of the notables who stud these gossipy pages. Mrs. Wright is a socialite whose face has adorned the best society pages and whose presence has graced the swishest of parties.

This story of her life is very much an uppercrust affair, glittering with personalities drawn from the haute monde on both sides of the Atlantic. She started out to be a singer and did pretty well in opera. She changed her name from Elaine to Cobina, got the best of teachers (including the great Jean de Reszke) and made a reputation for herself—till marriage intervened. Since then she has had her share of husbands and misfortunes, culminating in her current career as a society columnist.

But Mrs. Wright's greatest social triumph is one that never came off. Her daughter, Cobina, and a handsome young princeling named Philip fell in love when both were still in their 'teens. No, it never happened, but Mrs. Wright came close to being Prince Philip's mother-in-law.

Those readers to whom these things matter will search these pages in vain for Grandma Wright's actual age. It isn't there. "Everywhere I find my appetite for what comes next and the joy and game of life undiminished," she coyly explains. "That is my right age."

RUSSIAN PIANIST AGAIN SOLOIST AT SYMPHONY

Alexander Uninsky Plays Same Composition as in 1943 Debut Here.

By THOMAS B. SHERMAN

Alexander Uninsky, the Russian-born pianist, returned to St. Louis yesterday to appear as soloist with the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra at yesterday afternoon's concert in Kiel Auditorium. As it happened he played the same composition as in his 1943 debut with this orchestra, the Prokofieff Concerto No. 3 in C Major.

The nine-year interval hasn't dulled the cutting edge of a work that combines a hobble-de-hoy grotesqueness with delicate sentiment, and that is as "well made" as any concerto in the literature. Uninsky made it all sound a little less sardonic than the score would seem to justify. Even so he gave a persuasive, alert performance in which the sound was rich and healthy, the articulation was clean, and the tempos with their several modifications were wholly just. The demands on sheer manual dexterity were considerable, and the soloist met the test of skill with an accommodating virtuosity.

The orchestra under Conductor Vladimir Golschmann reflected the spirit of the work admirably. Co-ordination with the soloist was off at times but wasn't bothersome.

Uninsky played Debussy's "Reflets dans L'Eau" as an encore.

In the first half of the program Conductor Golschmann and the orchestra gave a performance of Beethoven's "Pastoral" Symphony that was a triumph of taste and judgment. It was in no way "sensational" as the word is ordinarily used; no climaxes were forced, no inner voices were suddenly underscored, no tricks of dynamics were employed. The performance had an easy lyrical flow, finely adjusted chordal balances, consistent transparency and a warm texture. The relative lightness of its impact showed a deep perception of its character in comparison with the other Beethoven symphonies.

Albert Tipton, the accomplished first flutist of the orchestra also made a solo appearance during the concert in Howard Hanson's Serenade for Flute, Harp and String Orchestra. The music was pleasant, if not partioularly arresting and Tipton played it smoothly.

The concert, which will be repeated tonight, was opened with a muscular performance of Beethoven's "Overture to Prometheus."

OPERA, BALLET GROUP MAKES ITS DEBUT HERE

Organization Aims to Help Amateurs Toward Professional Careers.

By CHARLES MENEES

The Midwest Cosmopolitan Opera and Ballet Association last night became a full-fledged newcomer in St. Louis musical life. Its debut was a concert performance—just singing, nothing else—of Verdi's "La Traviata," and a modernized version of the ballet from Gounod's "Faust." An audience of some 1600 persons—almost a full house—was on hand at the Lyn Theater.

This organization has a highly commendable purpose—to help amateur singers and dancers toward professional careers. Its musical director is Dr. Nandor Domokos, who conducted last night's performance with a firm and experienced baton. His orchestra was made up of St. Louis Symphony members. Former conductor of the Royal Hungarian Symphony, Dr. Domokos is now a professor at St. Louis University.

The amateur singers, as might be expected, put more sincere effort than voice into "La Traviata." Several of the soloists were quite adequate; the 50-voice chorus displayed good balance and discipline for the most part. The opera was sung in English, which pleased some in the audience, probably disappointed others.

There were three Violettas—Maria Balducci, Catherine Conner and Gay Arnoldi. Miss Conner had the role in two of the four acts and sang is sympathetically. Miss Balducci was almost as good an actress as singer and Miss Arnoldi displayed a well-trained voice capable of carrying above the ensemble.

The tenor voice of Don Nower, as Alfred, showed early signs of perhaps being over-rehearsed, but it progressively improved. Edwin Herchert, the baritone who sang Germont, drew the night's loudest applause with a sound delivery of the famous aria "Thy Home in Fair Province." Other principals were Mary Wagner, Bill Meyer, Ted Conner, Oscar Campbell, John Pomphrey, Betty Hollycross, David Sailade, James Kickham, Derna D'Agostin, Johanna Kollar, Theresa Schuler, John Oldenburg and Ann Naber.

The "Faust" ballet, with modern choreography by Lalla Bauman, ballet mistress, retained the theme of the evil influence of Mephistopheles. Principal soloists were Irene Gintautas, Dolores Catsigianis and 10-year-old Irene Jovanovich, a graceful youngster with a future.

MRS. THOMAS M'DERMOTT DIES

Funeral services for Mrs. Catherine Williams McDermott will be at 9 a.m. Monday at Holy Rosary Church, 3921 Clarence avenue, with burial in Calvary Cemetery. Mrs. McDermott, 83 years old, died yesterday of infirmities at her home, 4465 Clarence.

She was the widow of the late Thomas J. McDermott. Surviving are four sons, Roy J., general passenger traffic manager for Missouri Pacific Lines; J. F., E. A. and Thomas A. McDermott, and a daughter, Mrs. Edwin Styffe.

CHARITIES ADVOCATED AS LENT OBSERVANCE

Archbishop Ritter Appeals to Catholics to Pay Their Pledges to Hospital.

Archbishop Joseph E. Ritter has asked the Catholics of his archdiocese to make an especial observance of Lent with gifts to charity.

In his Lenten pastoral letter, made public yesterday, Archbishop Ritter gave the new regulations for fasting which have been revised from former years, then added:

"Since the rules of fasting have been so greatly modified, we are rightly reminded of our duty to practice more earnestly the other forms of penance, namely, prayer and almsgiving. Here in the archdiocese, all of us have engaged ourselves in a great project of charity and love, the Cardinal Glennon Memorial Hospital for Children. It would be most commendable if, during this Lent, we would all make an effort to pay in full our pledges to this great work. We can do so if our alms and sacrifice money are directed into this channel. By performing simple acts of self-denial in food, drink and entertainment, we can save enough money to pay these hospital campaign obligations."

The pastoral letter will be read at all masses tomorrow.

Archbishop Ritter will formally open the observance of Lent by presiding at the Ash Wednesday noonday mass at the Old Cathedral, 209 Walnut street, his custom since coming to St. Louis in 1946. The service will start at 12:10 p.m. An earlier mass at the Old Cathedral will be at 7:30 a.m. Throughout Lent, masses will be celebrated at 7:30 a.m. and 12:10 p.m., daily, except Saturday.

At the St. Louis Cathedral, Lindell boulevard and Newstead avenue, Ash Wednesday masses will be at 6, 7, 8 a.m., and 12:05 p.m. Blessed ashes will be distributed after all masses. A service of sermon and Rosary will be held at 8 p.m.

St. Francis Xavier (College) Church, Grand and Lindell boulevards, will observe 40 Hours Devotion beginning with high mass at 11 a.m. tomorrow. High mass will be celebrated at 8:40 a.m. on Monday and Tuesday. An 8 p.m. service will be held on the three days, and the special devotions will close Tuesday evening.

Christ Church Cathedral.

Bishop William Scarlett of the Missouri diocese, Episcopal Church, will conduct the Ash Wednesday noonday service at Christ Church Cathedral, Thirteenth and Locust streets, as he has done for many years. The service will be held from 12:05 to 12:30 p.m. Other Ash Wednesday services at the cathedral will include holy communion at 8 and 10 a.m. and evening service at 8 o'clock. The noonday Lenten service will be held daily except Saturday.

Lent in Lutheran Churches.

St. Louis churches of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod this week announced a schedule of midweek Lenten services, beginning with Ash Wednesday services at 8 p.m. Many Lutheran churches will hold a second Lenten midweek service on Thursdays.

The St. Louis Lutheran announced this week that some congregations of the synod will carry on mission programs during Lent "as a follow-up to the November Christian Teaching Mission canvass."

Many other Protestant churches in the St. Louis area have announced special Lenten services, beginning with a service on Ash Wednesday evening.

DENTAL STUDENT, 100 ASSISTANTS RUN CHURCH FOR WEEK

Joseph David Patterson, a senior in the Washington University School of Dentistry, has been acting as pastor of Third Baptist Church this week—annual Youth Week. Associate pastor is Miss Sarah Bailey of Festus, Mo., assistant financial secretary of the church.

Assisted by 100 young persons who have been organizing and training for the week's work since last December, the youth pastors are running the big church at Grand and Washington boulevards for one week. It is a plan inaugurated in 1936 by the pastor, the Rev. Dr. C. Oscar Johnson.

Last Sunday, the Rev. Dr. Johnson and all adult officers and board members of the church "resigned" for the week and the youth group took over. Miss Bailey conducted the midweek prayer service Wednesday night. Patterson will preach the sermon at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow, closing the week's observance.

Patterson, whose home is Searcy, Ark., has been a leader in youth work at Third Baptist Church during his student days here. He has served as president of the Baptist Youth Fellowship.

BETHEL GUILD MARKS GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY

Church Women's Organization Honors Two Charter Members at Luncheon.

The Women's Guild of Bethel Evangelical and Reformed Church, Greer and Garrison avenues, celebrated its fiftieth birthday Thursday and honored two charter members. They are: Mrs. Theophile L. Mueller of 4320A Randall place, widow of the first pastor of Bethel Church, and Mrs. Charles A. Williams, 3847 Sullivan avenue.

The birthday luncheon was held at 12:30 p.m. Thursday, and Mrs. Mueller and Mrs. Williams were guests of honor. After the luncheon a short play was presented by the Downtown Y.M.C.A. Players.

The Bethel Guild, with 105 members, carries on a year-round program of activities, and supports both the local work of the church and the national projects of the Board of Religious Organizations of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, also local charities.

Mrs. Hildegarde Cunliff of 6245 Wydown boulevard is president of the Women's Guild.

Bethel Church celebrated its fiftieth anniversary last November. When the church was established in the old Lindell Addition, nearly all of its members lived in the immediate north side neighborhood. The community has changed in recent years, and the church families now are scattered over the city and county. The Rev. Oscar Nussmann is the pastor.

REV. GEORGE M. GIBSON HERE FOR CONFERENCES, ADDRESSES

The Rev. Dr. George M. Gibson of Chicago, formerly a St. Louis pastor, arrived last night for a weekend of conferences and public addresses. He was the minister of First Congregational Church, Webster Groves, from 1930 to 1938.

The Rev. Dr. Gibson, professor of preaching at McCormick Theological Seminary, was scheduled to meet today with a ministerial fraternity. At 11 a.m. tomorrow he will be guest preacher at the Webster Groves Congregational Church. He will spend Monday at Eden Seminary, addressing a convocation at 11:30 a.m., and meeting classes in the afternoon.

While a pastor here, the Rev. Dr. Gibson was active in interchurch, interracial, labor and peace affairs. He is here under the sponsorship of the St. Louis Regional Fellowship of Reconciliation.

Temple Israel Invites Christian Clergy to Institute of Judaism

By JOHN T. STEWART
Church Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

The annual Institute of Judaism for Christian Clergy has been going on for so many years at Temple Israel and has proved so popular, it has developed its own traditions.

It is a gesture of friendship and fellowship, and every year both Jewish and Christian leaders take an active part in the day's program. Several years the turnout of Christian clergy for the Institute on Judaism has been the largest gathering of the clergy during the year; the attendance has reached 225.

This year the Ministerial Alliance canceled its February meeting and suggested that the institute takes its place, so the date for the meeting at Temple Israel was selected by the Christian clergy.

To Stress Kinship.

The fifteenth institute will be held on Monday and the program will follow the traditions that have been established. The day's program will emphasize the propinquity of Judaism and Christianity. As in past years, the speaker will be a noted Jewish scholar whose lectures will help the Christian clergy gain a deeper appreciation of their own religious backgrounds. The lecturer Monday will be Prof. Abraham Cronbach of Hebrew Union College, Cincinnati, O. His general theme will be "Rabbinic Judaism."

Clergy of the city will be guests of Temple Israel for the day. Chairman of the morning session at 10:15 o'clock will be Bishop Ivan Lee Holt of the Methodist Church. Dr. Cronbach will speak on "Judaism and the Sermon on the Mount." The morning session is always held in the temple.

Music at Luncheon.

At luncheon the clergy are to be guests of the Brotherhood of Temple Israel. Dr. Gunter Schmidt, president of the Men's Club, will preside. Contemporary Jewish liturgical music will be sung by the Temple Israel quartet under the direction of Howard B. Kelsey, organist and choir director of the temple. Comments on the music will be made by Mrs. David Kriegshaber, who was the temple organist for many years. Stanley Kann will play an organ interlude.

The afternoon session, following at 1:30 p.m., will be under the chairmanship of the Rev. Dr. Ervine P. Inglis, pastor of the First Congregational Church, Webster Groves. Dr. Cronbach will speak on "The Talmud as Seen by an Amateur." After the addresses there is always opportunity for questions and discussion.

Rabbi Ferdinand M. Isserman established the Institute on Judaism in 1934, and it has been held every year since, except for three years in World War II. The first institute of the kind was held in Cincinnati, and the one at Temple Israel was the second.

EPISCOPAL CHURCH SHOWS GAIN IN NUMBERS, RECEIPTS

Baptized membership in the Episcopal Church in this country increased 4.05 per cent last year to 2,643,488, the Church in Action reports. This is nearly double the communion's strength 25 years ago.

In 1951, there were 109,289 baptisms and 88,727 confirmations, both new high marks. Total receipts of the church increased by $8,101,591 over the previous year to a record total of $81,946,472.

Officers to Be Installed.

Newly-elected officers and commission members of the Metropolitan Church Federation will be installed at 4 p.m. tomorrow at a service at Delmar Baptist Church, 6195 Washington boulevard. The address will be given by the Rev. Dr. Edwin T. Dahlberg, pastor of Delmar Church and new president of the federation.

ST. LOUIS PRESBYTERY LISTS 28,000 ON ROLLS IN 1951

Church membership in the St. Louis Presbytery increased nearly 1000 in 1951 to 28,209, it is reported by the stated clerk, the Rev. Norman L. Euwer. Sunday school enrollment of 14,761 represents a gain of 100.

One new church was added in 1951 — the Glendale Church at 506 N. Sappington road. This makes 51 churches in the presbytery.

Total current receipts by all churches were $838,701, a gain of $88,000. Gifts for benevolences were $161,818, a gain of $16,000, and a per capita ratio of $5.34 against $4.92 in 1950.

METHODIST BISHOP COVERS MANY MILES DURING BUSY WEEK

Bishop Ivan Lee Holt travels many thousands of miles a year as resident bishop of the St. Louis Methodist Church, as president of the Methodist World Council, and as a member of a national church union group. Yet during the past 10 days he nearly broke his own record for travel and the number of engagements filled.

Last week he was the preacher for the evangelistic mission held at University Methodist Church. After the Friday evening service Bishop and Mrs. Holt took a train to Hot Springs, Ark., where on Saturday they attended the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Nelson, who were members of St. John's Methodist Church, St. Louis, when Bishop Holt was the pastor.

Returning to St. Louis Sunday morning, Feb. 17, Bishop Holt left after a few hours to drive to Farmington, Mo., 75 miles south of St. Louis, where at 3 p.m. he gave the sermon at a Methodist mass meeting in the high school. At 7 p.m. he was in the pulpit of the First Methodist Church, East St. Louis, as guest speaker in a series of services. At 9:15 p.m. he appeared at the Opera House, St. Louis, to extend greetings to the Methodist mass meeting and pronounce the benediction.

Last Monday Bishop Holt was in Springfield, Mo., for the opening of the Methodist united evangelistic campaign in that district. On Tuesday he left for New York, where he attended a church union conference Wednesday and Thursday.

He returned to St. Louis today.

Workshop on U.M.T.

A workshop for citizens opposed to universal military training will be held at 8 p.m. tomorrow at Grace Methodist Church, Skinker boulevard and Waterman avenue. The program is sponsored by the Commission on International Justice and Good Will of the Metropolitan Church Federation. The speaker will be the Rev. George M. Gibson of Chicago.

Brecheen Feels He Can Do Something With Munger

Red Drops His Slider For Curve

By J. Roy Stockton
Sports Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Feb. 23—It may sound like the same old song with the same music, except that somebody else is doing the Rodgers and Hammersteining, but Harry (The Cat) Brecheen believes George Munger has an excellent chance of being a valuable pitcher on the Cardinal staff—valuable, that is, to the Cardinals.

Munger, as is generally known, would win the Oscar hands down if one were given to the man with the most talent who did the least with it on the baseball field. He's big and strong and fast, but he hasn't been able to win for losing.

And now Prof. Brecheen, P.Ph.D., doctor of pitching philosophy, is talking just like Marty Marion did when Mr. Shortstop took over the management of the Cardinals. Marion said he knew what was the matter with Munger and virtually guaranteed Fred Saigh that George, under his kindly and intelligent direction, would be a consistently winning pitcher. You know what happened. George was as big a flop with Marion as he had been with Dyer.

Cat Has Him in Tow.

Of course, Brecheen knows more about pitching than Marion and many other persons know. Manager Eddie Stanky was so impressed by what Brecheen did with Cliff Chambers last year that he announced in open meeting that The Cat was officially the club's pitching coach and warned everybody not to take lightly anything that Brecheen suggested.

We caught Brecheen with his portfolio still brand new, after he had been working with Munger on the pitching mound, making suggestions, demonstrating and then watching George try to do the same tricks. So we asked Brecheen if he had noticed anything about Munger that could be changed to make him win games instead of losing them.

"Yes, I believe Munger can be a winning pitcher for us," Brecheen replied. "He must learn to hide the ball longer, to sort of string out the delivery. So the batter won't get a look at the ball till it's on the way. That shouldn't be too hard for George to do. He developed a slider a couple of years ago, and throwing the slider he lost his curve. He threw the slider with about the same motion as the fast ball and even when it was a slider the batter was expecting a fast ball, the batter frequently was able to hit it pretty good."

That was a kind of an understatement, but we let it go. And if anybody doesn't know what a slider is, Frank Frisch had a good definition. Frank called the slider "a nickle curve."

Throwing Curve Again.

"Now, George has dropped the slider," Brecheen continued. "He's throwing his curve again and he's got a good sinker, too. He'll be a lot more effective when he mixes a slow curve with his other stuff. Yes, I believe he can win us a lot of games, be a really good pitcher. And I'll mention another thing which is important. George seems to have a better attitude, more confidence. That's going to help him."

Well, that was a cheerful word for Stanky and the Redbirds. It would mean a lot to the club, which admits it needs pitching strength, if the strong-armed Munger, who has all the pitching tools and has lacked only that final one with which you fashion victories, could take a regular turn on the mound and win two-thirds of the time.

Tommy Glaviano, third baseman who may be considered as an outfield prospect, had his first workout yesterday. Tommy arrived in camp 15 pounds under his last October's weight. He tipped the scales last fall at 190, but weighed in at Al Lang Field at a trim 175. He explained he had been doing a lot of walking and watching his diet.

Nicholson in Flyer Lineup Against Bears

Mud Bruneteau's never-say-die Flyers, who are nine points out of third place in the American Hockey League's Western standings, will face the Hershey Bears tonight at the Arena with a chance to gain in the standings. Game time, 8:15.

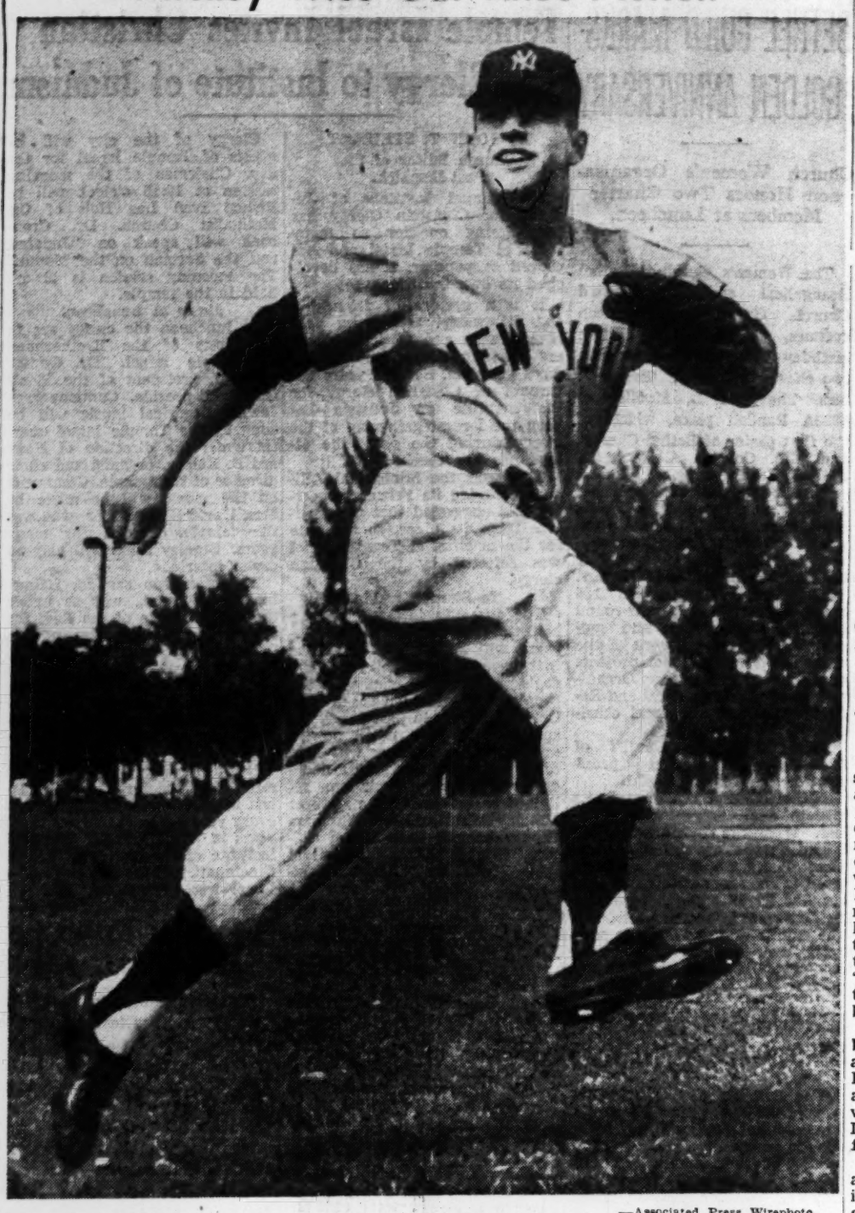

With Cincinnati (current holder of third) playing at Cleveland, the Flyers could move within seven points of that last play-off spot by combining a victory over Hershey with a reverse for the Mohawks. The real BIG contest of the waning schedule comes tomorrow afternoon when the Flyers play at Cincinnati.

The picture isn't as bad as it appears, because the Flyers have three more games remaining than Cincy, which has played 59 to the St. Louis club's 56. If Bruneteau's men could win all of those three "extras" the difference between the clubs wouldn't be great at all.

Hershey, the Eastern leader, has lost here three times previously and will be making its final season's appearance. But the 4-2, 3-2 and 3-1 struggles were extremely tough ones for St. Louis.

Eddie Nicholson, defenseman, will return to the Flyer lineup but high-scoring Cliff Simpson, rugged Steve Black and perhaps Harry Taylor will be sidelined. Simpson has been out a long time but looks forward to skating next week. Black was hurt again in a victory Tuesday over Syracuse and Taylor now has a knee ailment to go with a fractured thumb.

Windy City II Is Horse to Beat in $140,000 Anita Derby

ARCADIA, Calif., Feb. 23 (UP)—One robin doesn't make it spring, but one horse makes today's $140,000 Santa Anita Derby an attraction that is expected to draw nearly 60,000 racing fans.

Windy City II is the horse. The Irish-bred colt, off his brilliant record abroad and his stakes victories here, was an almost unanimous choice to capture the mile and an eighth classic.

The names of 14 colts were dropped into the racing secretary's entry box yesterday by their trainers, each accompanied by a check for $500. It costs an additional $1500 to start, but for fees the track posted rich prizes for finishing in the money.

With 14 remaining out of an original list of 120 nominees, the race carries a net purse to the winner of $92,900, only $1800 less than the record net in 1949 of $94,700 won by Old Rockport.

And even if Windy City should win, the returns for the others also were high, with $20,000 going to second, $15,000 for third and $10,000 for fourth.

Opposing Windy City, barring a last-minute scratch, will be Hill Gail, Indian Land, All's Fair, Marcador, Whither, Kingly, Cold Command, Dark Count, Arroz, Red Charger, Tiger Sir, Smoke Screen and Haltafire.

All entrants carry 118 pounds.

Spartan Valor Favored.

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 23 (INS)—Spartan Valor was listed as the favorite among 13 entries to take the fifteenth running today of the $50,000 added Widener Handicap at Hialeah.

The Jobstown, N. J., bred horse, owned by William G. Helis Jr., drew post position No. 4 for the mile-and-a-quarter distance.

Greek Ship was top weighted at 122 pounds for the classic and Spartan Valor will be carrying 119 pound with Jockey Jimmy Stout up.

Spartan Valor was rated as the top horse in the race because he established a track mark in the mile and a furlong in the $25,000 added McLennan Handicap earlier this year. He was only 2-5 of a second from Noor's world record of 1:46 4-5 for the distance.

12 Bevy Finds For Champion In Title Meet

GRAND JUNCTION, Tenn., Feb. 23 (AP)—Paladin scoured Ames Plantation clean of quail yesterday in a tremendous bid to hold the national birdog championship he won last year.

The sleek, powerful pointer, owned by the A.G.C. Sage Estate in New York, scored a total of 12 bevy finds and was on single birds twice.

Despite the muddy footing, he finished the three-hour grind with energy to spare. He was, however, charged with an unproductive point, an error that may influence the final score.

Paladin's fiery hunt was matched by his bracemate, Armed, owned by Lambert Horn of Birmingham, Ala. Armed was on game nine times and ran a top-notch ground heat.

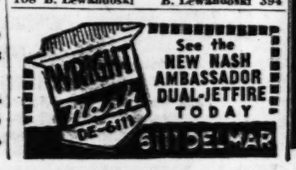

The afternoon brace paired Rangers's Spunky Pete, owned by Dr. W. H. Wallingford, Princeton, W.Va., and Tobacco Man, owned by Ben Hogan of Little Rock, Ark. Pete piled up five bevies, but crowded his birds on two of them, startling them into flight. Tobacco Man, in a fractious mood, was out of hand most of his trial.

Pep Rules Practice Of Browns

By L. A. McMaster
Of the Post-Dispatch Sports Staff.

BURBANK, Calif., Feb. 23—Day by day the Browns' training camp here takes on more players and, seemingly, more pep. The goings on are surprising, in view of the fact that the so-called main squad is not due for another week.

With Rogers Hornsby in charge, there are no clowns, no undersized non-athletes. But there's a lot of fun.

There are a couple of players in camp, specially picked by Hornsby and labeled by Rog as sure shots to make good, who make a show of everything they do. Old rivals of the Pacific Coast League, they are buddies on the field now, having fun in every move either makes.

Jim Rivera is an outfielder. George Schmees, signed originally by the Brooklyn organization as a first baseman but who played in the outfield last season with Hollywood, now is trying his hand at first base.

Rivera Enjoys the Game.

These two boys are the life of the party at every practice session. Rivera, who performs like a throwback to the old days when players would sacrifice a finger or toe to get into the lineup and remain there, loves to be on the offensive. He is a natural swinger who smacks a ball to right field like a bullet, runs like a jackrabbit and refuses to admit that he is out on any play. He'll run to first base and insist he is entitled to the bag until a fan yells "safe, Jim." He turns to grin at the fan, then trots away from the bag.

Schmees, a 6-foot 190-pounder built along the lines of Rivera, is another play-every-minute athlete. He is trying to master the art of defending first base, and while not at this time the fancy Dan type, he is maneuvering his feet pretty well.

"He's a pretty good glove man at that bag," observed Hornsby in looking back at the three week experiment with Schmees at El Centro, prior to the opening of the regular camp here.

In practice, Rivera likes to fill in at third base. Schmees delights in yelling across the diamond "gimme a wild one" to the left-hand throwing Rivera. Jim fields the ball across the diamond with everything he has and finds the target regularly.

Friday arrivals were Pitchers Bob Mahoney, Duane Pillette and Satchel Paige and Catcher Clint Courtney. Courtney brought his signed contract with him.

Pitchers Learn to Bunt.

It was pitchers' batting day, with emphasis on bunting. Hornsby had the flingers out in center field for half an hour or so at the start of the session, instructing them in how to hold the bat and how to meet the ball to dump it in fair territory.

Paige, who drove to camp, appeared at the batting cage in time for the first round of batting pitchers. He dropped two twisting little tantalizers in front of the plate with the touch of an artist, added evidence of his long experience in the game. Thereafter he jogged and walked in center field, occasionally engaging in the Satchel Paige patented calisthentics, a routine which includes a bend to touch his toes with his fingertips which no other member of the squad, even to the tallest, could approximate.

The camp was noisy before Paige arrived. With Satch on the scene, the field not only rang with shouts but laughs and giggles. He just naturally invokes good humor.

Two Titles for Finnish Aces in Olympic Games

OSLO, Feb. 23 (UP)—Finland scored a grand slam in the winter Olympics today by finishing 1-2-3 in the women's cross-country ski race and taking first in the men's 24-mile relay ski race.

The 10-kilometer (six-mile) trek for women was branded as "unladylike" by some critics, but Lydia Videman didn't think so as she won it in 41 minutes, 40 seconds. Marja Hietmaies was second and Siiri Rantenen third.

In the men's 40-kilometer (24 miles) relay Heikki Hasu grabbed the lead for Finland on the first leg and his compatriots carried it to victory.

The United States did not compete in the women's race, and was last in the men's relay.

Finland's winning time in the relay was 2 hours, 20 minutes, 16 seconds. Norway was second and Sweden third. Finland held a big lead all the way, but Norway and Sweden fought it out for second with Norway grabbing the silver medal on the last lap.

Pin Meets Open.

Bowling begins this evening in the annual city handicap bowling tournament at the Arway alleys, while competition also begins in the Ferguson singles and doubles at Red Crown and Ferguson Lanes. The first squad at Arway rolls at 7 o'clock.

Sawyer's Camp Motto For Phillies—'Blood, Sweat and No Beers'

CLEARWATER, Fla., Feb. 23 (UP).

MANAGER EDDIE SAWYER, who believes soft living contributed to the Phillies' poor showing last season, introduced the most rigorous training program ever undertaken by the club.

The first day's work produced two casualties—Pitcher Howie Fox and Infielder Nippy Jones—both of whom collapsed on the field.

"We're going to increase the speed, strength and stamina of our men's legs as well as their stomach muscles," Sawyer said sternly.

The camp's new motto: "Blood, sweat—and no beers."

Sycamores Beat Concordia; Play Washington Five

By Harold Flachsbart

Concordia Seminary's Preachers ran into a row of stalwart Sycamores last night and the result was a 61-55 setback at the hands of Indiana State which dropped Concordia's season percentage a resounding 52 points from .941 to .889—still not bad. The Seminarians' loss—at their home field before some 1300 fans—was just their second in 18 games.

Indiana State thus will take a 16-7 record into another game in St. Louis this afternoon, with the Washington University Bears game in St. Louis this afternoon, with the Washington University Bears host at the unusual hour of 3 o'clock.

The better team on Washington's birthday won the battle of "Blue and Whites." The visiting Sycamores, featuring a shifty Negro star, Sam Richardson, had better shooting accuracy, greater drive, sharper passing and they didn't do badly on rebounding, where Concordia had figures to have a big edge.

Big Ron (6-9) Goerss, the Preachers' high scorer, was not enjoying one of his better nights, and Roland Haas, second best point-getter over the season, was blanked completely. Richardson, only 6 foot 3½, reached higher than the Preacher figured, exhibited smooth ball handling with clever passing and had a jump shot that was hard to guard. His 12 points, however, took second honors in individual scoring to Bassil Sfreddo, who notched seven field goals and four free throws. Dave Wacker, used frequently as a replacement for Goerss, topped Concordia with 13.

The Hoosier team from Terre Haute 41.8 per cent of its shots, 23 out of 55, including nine out of 18 in a hot first quarter that ended 20-17, Sycamores high. Pete Pederson's Preachers, playing below par, most observers agreed, hit 22 out of 64 for a 34.4 percentage. Thus Indiana State made actually only one more field goal.

If the visitors didn't salt away the game in the second quarter, when they jumped to a 36-28 advantage on the strength of shots by Sfreddo, Roger Adkins, Richardson and Dick Atha, they really put the game out of reach in a sizzling third quarter which ended 50-37. The final score, 61-55, was as close as the home forces came in the fourth period, and that's when Concordia outscored the Sycamores, 18 to 11.

Victory at Drake Tonight Would Be Billikens' 20th

DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 23—The 20-victory mark, a magic milestone for most college basketball teams, is the target for tonight of the St. Louis University Billikens.

The new Missouri Valley Conference champions, with a 19-5 record, will play Drake U. (10-11) in a non-conference game, the second meeting of the teams this season.

About three weeks ago in St. Louis, the Drake team gave the Billikens one of their closer calls in a season that has produced many hair-breadth decisions. The Bills won, 59-57.

So, now, as they play out the regular season that is expected to place them in one or more post-season tournaments, the Bills are fully prepared to meet unexpected difficulty.

Have Been Troublesome.

Over the years Drake has given St. Louis U. occasionally strong battles on the hardwood. In previous seasons Drake was a member of the Valley Conference from which it withdrew over a football season incident.

But every year, for the past five, St. Louis has been a winner against Drake. And, not counting exceptions to the rule, the Billikens surprisingly have found it a bit easier to win at Drake than they have at St. Louis in games with the Bulldogs.

Like many of St. Louis's opponents, Drake this season has sufficient potential talent to play a strong game on any given occasion. In its last four starts, for instance, it has nosed out a good Bradley team, walloped Wichita and defeated Tulsa, while losing only to Detroit. The victories over Wichita and Tulsa were on the Bulldogs' home court.

Pressure Off?

St. Louis, which clinched its Valley title during the week with a victory over Houston at St. Louis, was not especially impressive in the playing of that game. But now the Bills no longer will be bothered by the title-winning pressure and should spring back to usual form.

When Eddie Hickey's athletes pass the 20-victory mark, as they undoubtedly will in one of their four remaining regular season games, the passing will make the fourth time in five years that St. Louis achieved that feat.

In the years of Blue and White glory, the 1947-48 Blue and White team had a 21-3 regular season record; the 1948-49 team had a 22-3 mark and last year's team had a 21-7 record. Only the 1949-50 team fell below the high level of performance with a 17-9 record.

It is possible that the present team can surpass previous regular season victory totals but the remainder of the 28-game schedule presents some problems.

Players Fight As U.S. Hockey Team Triumphs

OSLO, Feb. 23 (AP) — The United States kept its slim Olympic hockey hopes alive last night with a 5-3 victory over Poland in a fast but disorganized game which saw a near free-for-all between the two teams.

The win—Uncle Sam's fifth in six games — left the Americans two points behind undefeated Canada.

The Canadiens cleared a big hurdle by nipping Sweden, 3-2, on Billy Dawes's goal with only 20 seconds to play.

As a result of the action, which also saw Finland defeat Germany, 5-1, and Czechoslovakia beat Switzerland, 8-3, the team standings find Canada on top with 12 points on six victories. Sweden, Czechoslovakia and United States are locked in a three-way tie for second place with 10 points each.

The United States-Poland game was a rough and tumble affair, with the Americans drawing four penalties and Poland one, all in the third period. Andy Gambucci of Evelyth, Minn., and Anthony Wrobel of Poland were given five-minute major penalties. The Poles said Gambucci hit Wrobel in the face with his fist. The Americans claimed that Gambucci struck with his fist only after he had been attacked by the stick-wielding Wrobel.

The game was held up while Polish officials streamed from their benches on to the ice.

The Americans took a 3-0 lead during the first two periods on goals by Ruben Bjorkman, Ken Yackel and Arnold Oss. Poland's goalie, Szlendak, was knocked unconscious in the second period trying to stop the Americans' second goal. His eye, cut by a stick, the goalie was carried from the arena by medical attendants.

The United States pulled into a 4-0 lead at the start of the final period on a goal by Cliff Harrison. But then the Poles went to work, and within 13 minutes cut this deficit to one goal. John Mulhern, however, sewed up the game for the surprised Americans with an unassisted tally at 13:08.

Champs Get Top Seeds in Basket Meets

Three league champions . . . Cleveland, St. Louis U. High and University City . . . this morning were seeded in that order for next week's regional basketball tournaments here. De Andreis was seeded fourth by the 32 coaches who met at Washington University.

In the second four were Jennings, Maplewood, Webster Groves and McKinley. The last two tied for seventh and eighth, so McKinley was moved to sixth in order to permit Maplewood and Webster Groves to conduct tournaments.

Cleveland, the Public High League champion, will play at Webster Groves, called the St. Louis No. 3 tournament; St. Louis U. High, the Prep king, will play at Maplewood, in the St. Louis No. 2 event; University City, the Suburban champion, will be host to the St. Louis No. 4 event and De Andreis will be host in the St. Louis No. 1 tournament.

The winners only will advance to the 16-team state finals at Columbia, the week ending March 8.

Cincinnati U. Boosters Want School to Quit Mid-America League

CINCINNATI, O., Feb. 23 (UP)—A group of football boosters have asked the University of Cincinnati to withdraw from the Mid-America Conference and go ahead with a program of building up its teams.

Mark Kroll, president of the Cincinnati Touchdown Club, said he sent a resolution to university officials asking them to quit the conference of Ohio and Michigan teams which this week announced plans for curtailing athletic activities.

"The recommendations made by the Mid-America . . . would result in lowering rather than elevating the athletic program," the resolution said.

Kroll said that the university's plans to cut down on its athletic program would be breaking faith with supporters of the college.

New Umpire.

PORT HURON, Mich., Feb. 23 (UP)—Frank Secory, former Detroit Tiger who had signed to become athletic director at Marysville, Mich., High School this fall, has announced now that he has accepted a contract to become a National League baseball umpire.

Burroughs Drubs Country Day For 21st Victory of Campaign

By Harold Tuthill

John Burroughs today is in very select company. The Bombers of Ray Wolfe last night defeated Country Day, 57-32, to make a clean sweep of their league games and put them in the same class with Cleveland, Public High League champion, and University City, the Suburban king, both of which swept through their leagues without a set-back.

The game, the last on the regular Burroughs schedule before the state series starts Monday, was played before the largest crowd ever to pack the Bomber auditorium.

A good portion of the audience was there to see whether Country Day could upset the Blue and Gold which has been beaten only once, that by state champion Puxico. But the Codasco fans were doomed to disappointment after the boys of Marvin Levy took an early lead.

The Burroughs attack sputtered at the outset as high-scoring Bob Thym was held scoreless until the closing seconds of the first quarter. Thym's goal put Burroughs ahead 14-13, for the first time since early in the contest.

Thym on Scoring Spree.

In the second quarter Burroughs scored 24 points half of them by Thym. Flu-stricken Bill MacCarthy gathered seven points in the first quarter and two in the third and rested in between in order to be in condition for Coyle Monday night in the opening round of the "B" subregional at Principia Academy.

While the Bomber second-quarter barrage was on Country Day collected on two goals, one by Bob Post and the other by Jim Breckenridge. Country Day had a similar experience in the final eight minutes when only Bill Barker was able to score.

Thym's 18 points were high for Burroughs which connected on 24 of 63 field goal attempts, a percentage of 38. Country Day tried 55 shots, made 12 of them, a per cent of 22.

Bill Peniston was runner-up to Thym for scoring honors with 11. MacCarthy had nine, Don Pruett seven and Charley Duncker six among the regulars.

Reserves Get Chance.

In the second half Wolfe cleaned the bench, using Jeremy Harris, Al Goldman, Bill Gullion, Pete Fischer, Pete Zentay, Bill Agnew, Gates Agnew, Gordon Philpott and Cliff Dimmitt of the reserves.

Country Day used 10 players but one of the important cogs—Athan Mertis—did not spend too much time on the floor. He was taken out in the second quarter when he had four fouls against him and he finally fouled out after a minute and a half of the third period. His nine points in his brief appearance equalled that of Roland Webb who went all the way after drawing three fouls in the opening period.

Burroughs' victory, its sixth in league play, gave it a season record of 21-1. Country Day, which could have shared the "ABC" League title with a triumph, wound up with a 4-2 league mark.

Collinsville High Beats Belleville For Clean Sweep

Collinsville did a mopping up job last night. The Kahoks of Vergil Fletcher defeated Belleville, 79-45, and thereby made a sweep of the Southwestern Illinois Conference, winning all 12 of their league basketball engagements.

Tonight Collinsville will oppose tough Gillespie, winner of the East St. Louis Christmas tournament, on the Kahok floor. Gillespie last night shaded Mount Olive, 57-53.

Collinsville's victory, its twentieth against one loss, handed Coach Fletcher his third clear conference title in his six years at the East Side school.

Collinsville is ranked No. 2 in Illinois. The No. 10 team, Quincy, had a battle on its hands before it won its thirty-fourth consecutive game at home, the victim being St. Louis U. High, the Prep League champion, 54-53. A Quincy free throw in the last five seconds prevented the Junior Billikens from registering their twentieth triumph. Instead, they suffered their fifth loss, the third at the hands of an Illinois school. Previously they bowed to Collinsville and Decatur.

TRUMAN LACKING IN 'PASSION' FOR PEACE, SAYS TAFT

G.O.P. Leader Asserts He Would Reorganize State Department if Elected.

BARRE, Vt., Feb. 23 (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio struck at Administration foreign policy last night as lacking a "passion for peace" and said he would reorganize the State Department if elected President.

In an address at a Republican rally, he hit hard also at what he called "big government and arbitrary power," government "immorality," "unlimited" taxing and spending, and bureaucratic controls.

Referring to foreign policy, Taft said:

"As a good neighbor we desire to help the rest of the world in every reasonable way, but certainly that cannot be a primary object of foreign policy, or an excuse either for the wrecking of our economy at home, or for the terrible tragedy of war.

Assails Policies.

"The President scattered his State of the Union message with the constant use of the word 'peace,' but the policies he describes are as likely to produce war as peace.

"Under Truman and Acheson they have already led to one unnecessary war. Neither in this Administration nor the last has there been any evidence of that passion for peace which ought to guide every American President."

Taft attacked the argument that by going into Korea the United Nations forces have proved that aggression will be punished.

"All we have proved," he said, "is that while perhaps a small aggressor (North Koreans) may be punished, the United Nations is helpless against a large (Chinese Communists) aggressor."

Taft repeated his argument for using the Nationalist forces of Gen. Chiang Kai-shek on Formosa for diversionary assaults on South China or in Korea, and asked:

"Why on earth should we not arm the Chinese Nationalists to battle for us wherever they may be most effective? Why should we ever again send American boys to fight on the continent of Asia?"

'Strange Communist Sympathy.'

Asserting the Administration has been "dominated by a strange Communist sympathy, by a complete absence of consistency and principle, and by the worst of judgment," Taft added:

"We offer a reorganization of the State Department, to put in charge men of ability and sound judgment to determine their day-to-day decisions, men who believe in the principles of America and are consistently guided by those principles."

Replying to claims of his critics tht if nominated he could not win the presidency, Taft said the principal basis of the argument seems to be that "labor would be against me because of the Taft-Hartley law." He added that for the same reason "every New Dealer in the country in 1950 said I couldn't win in Ohio," yet he carried 84 of the 88 counties, including every one of the eight large industrial counties.

"Ohio is a typical cross section of the nation with a population of 8,000,000," he said, "and what was done there can be done in the nation."

MAYOR OF CARTHAGE, MO., ARRESTED ON MORALS CHARGE

CARTHAGE, Mo., Feb. 23 (AP)—The Mayor of Carthage, H. Tiffin Teters, has been arrested on a morals charge, Sheriff George Hickam reported today.

Assistant Jasper County Attorney Elza Johnson filed the charge against the Mayor, a Republican serving his first term, last night. Teters was jailed.

The Mayor, 39 years old, a World War II veteran and the father of three children, denied the charge.

The Mayor's arrest followed by a few hours the arrest of Morris Shaffer, 48-year-old Carthage beauty salon operator. Hickam and Johnson said Shaffer made a statement implicating Teters and several Carthage teen-agers.

BOMB USED BY BOY AS TOY FOR YEAR FOUND TO BE LOADED

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., Feb. 23 (UP)—Military and police authorities today were checking the origin of a 16-inch practice bomb—used as a plaything by a 13-year-old youth here for more than a year.

The authorities were called when Danny Thompson and a playmate began to dismantle the bomb—and found it was loaded with a heavy and active charge of dynamite.

The boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Thompson, told authorities the bomb was given to him by his grandmother, Mrs. Anna Darrington. She said she found it when she moved to her home a year ago.

CZECH STAFF CHIEF REPORTED OUT OF ARMY AND PARTY JOBS

VIENNA, Feb. 23 (UP)—Diplomatic quarters reported today that Gen. Jaroslav Prochazka, chief of the general staff of the Czechoslovakia army, has been dismissed from his post and from the Communist party.

Prochazka had been reported under arrest as a suspect in an alleged plot to overthrow the government.

An "order of the day" broadcast by the Prague radio mentioned Defense Minister Alexei Cepicka alone as signer. Customarilly, all such orders were signed also by Prochazka.

Third Lincoln Tunnel Tube.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (UP)—The city board of estimate has approved the construction of a third tube for the Lincoln tunnel linking New York and New Jersey under the Hudson river.

NUMBER OF CRIMES BY U.S. TROOPS IN JAPAN AT NEW LOW

TOKYO, Feb. 23 (UP)—Crimes committed by American occupation troops have been reduced to a record low and all serious offenders are being prosecuted vigorously, Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's Supreme Headquarters said today.

In a statement issued by the headquarters public information office to answer Japanese newspaper charges of "incidents" involving American troops, the Army said:

Only 28 serious criminal offenses were committed by Americans during January.

The number of homicides attributed to occupation forces dropped from eight in January 1951 to two in January 1952. Robberies by Americans dropped from 22 last April to six last month.

The report was issued as military police hunted three men, believed to be American soldiers, for holding up a Tokyo bank and escaping with $6000 in yen.

Until the last few days Americans involved in crimes were identified in Japanese newspapers only as "tall men."

SECOND SUIT TO ASSAIL COUNTY REDISTRICTING

Action to Be Filed in Supreme Court on State Representative Plan.

A suit attacking the constitutionality of the redistricting plan voted by the Republican-controlled St. Louis County Council, which would divide the county into nine new state representative districts, will be filed in the Missouri Supreme Court, in addition to the previously-announced suit contesting the new senatorial district plan.

This was announced today by Fred M. Joseph, chairman of the County Democratic Central Committee. Both actions were authorized by the committee. The Democrats contend both plans were gerrymandered to give Republicans greater political control. Constitutional requirements for contiguous and compact districts were ignored in the revision, they charged.

Under the new plans, Republicans would control eight of the nine state representative districts and all three of the state senatorial districts, Democrats assert. Because of increased population, the number of representative districts has been increased from seven to nine and senatorial districts from two to three. Republicans field an edge of five-to-two in the old representative districts and controlled both the old senatorial districts.

CHENNAULT'S SON LOSES JOB AS TROOPER, BLAMES POLITICS

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 23 (UP)—The son of Gen. Claire Chennault of Flying Tiger fame charged yesterday that he was fired as a state trooper because he refused to donate $50 to the campaign fund of a gubernatorial candidate in the recent Louisiana elections.

A denial was issued by Col. E. P. Roy, head of the state department of public safety. Simultaneously, he admitted that several other officers, including a onetime bodyguard of the late Senator Huey P. Long, would be fired on March 1. He said the dismissals were for economy.

David W. Chennault had charged at Monroe, La., that he had been dismissed, effective March 1, because he refused to give money to the campaign fund of Carlos G. Spaht, Gov. Earl Long's candidate for Governor. The dismissal letter, he said, was dated Feb. 20, the day after the Louisiana runoff primary in which Judge Robert F. Kennon of Minden defeated Spaht.

HEIRESS URGES TRUMAN HELP GET SON BACK FROM BELGIUM

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—Mrs. Lorraine Dresselhuys du Monceau has appealed to President Truman to help her get her 15-month-old son back from Belgium.

The young Manville asbestos heiress wrote Truman that the boy was "snatched" from her by her husband "in violation of every rule of humanity."

Mrs. du Monceau and her estranged husband, Count Yvan du Monceau de Bergendal, a Belgian diplomat, became involved in an international custody case last Jan. 19 when the count flew home with the child, Tommy Manville du Monceau.

Her lawyer, Charles H. Tuttle, disclosed last night that she filed a statement with the State Department's protocol division shortly after the count left Washington. Tuttle later wrote Secretary of State Dean Acheson a personal letter and she sent one to President Truman. Du Monceau was Belgium's air and military attache at Washington.

Model Plane Flyer Electrocuted.

HOUSTON, Tex., Feb. 23 (UP)—Clayton Smith, 36 years old, was flying one of his model airplanes yesterday when the copper wire by which he held it snagged an electric power line. He was knocked unconscious and died an hour later at a hospital.

CONGRESS GROUPS TO STUDY CLOSING OF TAX LOOPHOLES

George Wants Tighter Rules on Letting Ex-Revenue Employes Act as Tax Advisers.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—Plugs for recently-disclosed tax loopholes will be considered soon by two committees of Congress, Senator George (Dem.), Georgia, said today.

"There seems to have been some pretty loose handling of certain matters," he told a reporter. Specifically, he said, there appeared to be "some laxity"—and tighter rules indicated—in granting former employes of the Internal Revenue Bureau special permission to act as counsel for tax-troubled companies.

George said action will be taken by the Senate Finance Committee, which he heads, and the House Ways and Means Committee, which writes tax laws.

'Glaring' Loopholes, Two Say.

Two investigating Senators, Nixon (Rep.), California, and Mundt, (Rep.), South Dakota, described tax loopholes as "glaring." Unless these are plugged, they said in separate statements, their investigations subcommittee's inquiry into a profitable surplus ship deal "will be a failure."

The subcommittee is headed by Senator Hoey (Dem.), North Carolina, also a member of the Finance Committee, who has voiced a similar view.

George said one recent disclosure he has in mind is that involving Joseph D. Nunan, former internal revenue commissioner. The Revenue Bureau, records show, issued Nunan's law firm special permits to represent 102 clients whose tax cases had been pending when he left his federal job in 1947.

Butler Calls for Bar.

Senator Butler (Rep.), Nebraska, called for an outright bar on such waivers. He demanded that no person be permitted to represent a client before the Government agency for which he had worked, for at least two years after leaving the agency.

Mundt said he believes the evidence shows tax laws should be changed to (1) restrict incorporation of foreign subsidiaries of United States corporations, and (2) "prevent foreign nationals from exploiting properties obtained from this Government."

Nixon said tax laws should be drafted carefully to avoid protecting "the men who insist upon skirting the laws and staying just inside them to obtain benefits not available to other taxpayers."

In hearings on the ship deal, Joseph E. Casey told Senator Hoey's subcommittee a group he headed made a $3,250,000 profit on a $101,000 cash investment in war surplus oil tankers.

In the transaction, Casey testified, his group organized a Panamanian corporation which was not subject to United States taxes.

Hearing Date Expected Soon.

A starting date for the long-awaited hearings into the New York internal revenue situation is expected to be set early next week by House tax investigators.

Subpenas for some witnesses are understood to be returnable Monday, although it may be several weeks before public hearings start.

Representative King (Dem.), California, chairman of the House Ways and Means investigating subcommittee, is not expected back until next week from San Francisco, where the inquiry group has just completed hearings on the Northern California tax picture.

Meanwhile, committee records dealing with the New York setup are under committee lock and key after being rushed here from the committee's staff offices in New York.

Their removal was ordered when a federal grand jury unexpectedly moved into the investigation while the committee was on the West Coast.

Justice Agency Checkup.

On another investigative front, a House Judiciary subcommittee has invited Harold E. Stassen to present "any credible evidence" he has that Attorney General J. Howard McGrath has become a millionaire during his career in public office. Stassen, seeking the Republican presidential nomination, made the charge in a speech this week.

McGrath thanked him for the "compliment" and said there was no necessity to comment on Stassen's charge.

In a telegram to Representative Hillings (Rep.), California, a member of the subcommittee, Stassen said he would co-operate with any congressional committee inquiring into the "accumulated wealth" of McGrath in all the years since his election as Governor of Rhode Island.

"In view of his failure to answer my telegram and his evasive comment of a flip nature to the press, I respectfully suggest that he promptly be called and placed under oath for the inquiry," Stassen said.

Flashes of Life

By the Associated Press.

Young Interpreters.

PEORIA, Ill.—Guyla Krivatsky, an immigrant from Hungary, went to the internal revenue office to file his income tax return.

With him were two interpreters. They explained that Krivatsky, an employe of a Peoria florist, did not speak English very well.

The interpreters who helped get the return filed are Krivatsky's grandsons, Tibor Stoll, 10 years old, and Steven Stoll, 9.

Knew His Job.

PULASKI, N.Y.—That was a soft detail Pfc. David Denio drew—serving as traffic policeman for a convoy on the main street of Pulaski, his home town.

The first person he flagged down was a staff sergeant—Paul Denio, his brother, home on furlough. David's outfit, the Eleventh Airborne Division, was returning to its home base, Fort Campbell, Ky., from Camp Drum, where winter maneuvers ended a week ago.

Guilty Conscience.

OMAHA—Police Sgt. Harry Fielding was feeling cramped from sitting in a cruiser car. So he got out to stretch.

As he raised his arms, a passing motorist thought he was being signalled to stop—and he did. Only when other policemen drove up did Fielding learn he had flagged down a motorist being pursued by the officers.

Police booked the motorist, Marion E. Kephart, for speeding, reckless driving and operating an unsafe vehicle.

RUSSIANS REPORTED BUILDING SHIPS IN EAST REICH YARDS

BERLIN, Feb. 23 (AP) — The Russians are building an ocean-going passenger fleet in East German shipyards and charging the expense to reparations, Soviet zone government quarters said yesterday.

The work was reported proceeding in the Russian-owned Neptune docks at Straslund and the people's-owned Mathias-Thesen shops in Wismar.

The informants said a large part of the Soviet Baltic sea merchant fleet would also use the German yards for repairs, on a reparation basis. By their account:

Four passenger ships are on the ways now. They are the 12,000-ton Pobeda, the 8000-ton Kaliningrad (the former German Tannenberg), the 11,000-ton Istra and the 4500-ton Kooperatia.

The Pobeda is being fitted with fine appointments, including a blue velvet music salon and gilded ceilings and walls. This work is so extensive the yards do not expect to complete the job for some months.

The Wismar docks are to be enlarged this spring, it was said, to handle the construction of big freighters.

SENATORS CHARGE UNION VOTE WAS RIGGED TO RETAIN REDS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23 (AP)—A Senate subcommittee charged today that union elections were rigged to keep "Communist officials" of the American Communications Association in office.

Testimony in support of its charge was made public today by the Senate Internal Security subcommittee. It was presented at closed hearings last month by three former officers of the union, an independent certified as bargaining agent for about 6500 communications workers in the New York area.

The report said: "Fraudulent practices included the destruction of ballots of members of the union and the substitution of ballots which had been marked for a slate of candidates designated by the Communist leadership."

The report was based on testimony from Louis Wallis and James P. Ryan, Western Union employes in Brooklyn, and Walter J. Jacobsen, a Western Union employe in New York City, all members of the ACA and once on its executive board.

Bette Davis Adopts Boy.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 23 (AP)—Michael Woodman Merrill, one month old, arrived yesterday at the home of Screen Actress Bette Davis and her actor husband, Gary Merrill, to become their foster son. They have two other children, Miss Davis's 5-year-old daughter, Barbara, and an adopted daughter, Margo, 13 months.

UPPER RESPIRATORY AILMENTS INCREASE

High Incidence of Common Colds Reported Here This Month.

An increase in diseases of the upper respiratory tract has been noted by city health authorities this month, it was announced today.

Common colds have reached a high incidence and there have been 19 cases of influenza reported since the first of the year, with one death. The figure compares with eight cases and one death in the same period last year, it was reported by Dr. J. Earl Smith, city health commissioner.

Some 256 cases of mumps have been reported this year, indicating the disease is on the increase temporarily. Only 20 cases were reported in the comparable period last year. Measles, however, a more serious childhood ailment, was reported in only 10 cases thus far as compared with 713 cases in the same period of 1951, Dr. Smith said.

Several cases of mumps and one case of measles have occurred at Shriners Hospital for Crippled Children, it was reported. Because the presence of an infectious disease in a ward requires a halt to all but emergency surgery, the hospital has called on the St. Louis Chapter, American Red Cross, for a measles serum developed through its blood donor program.

Enough serum to immunize 60 children in one ward has been sent to the hospital. The Red Cross said it was the largest project of its kind since the serum preparation was begun here.

CHANCELLOR COMPTON WARNS U.S. IT MUST STAY ON GUARD

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 23—Chancellor Arthur H. Compton of Washington University, St. Louis, warned here yesterday that Russia may gain the advantage unless this country maintains itself in readiness "to meet the attack of Communism."

"If we let the challenge of Korea slide we might be entering a very critical period," Compton said. He added that the United States should not be on the aggressive but should be prepared to meet the attack of Communism.

His appearance here was in connection with a series of 11 addresses before West Coast student and Washington University alumni groups. He spoke at the University of Washington under auspices of the Religion in Education Foundation.

Moment of Triumph

Slipping Into Role Of Marlene Dietrich

By Inez Robb

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (INS). LIFE'S triumphs are few and far between. On this basis, I hope you will bear with me for a moment. Recently I was called in to substitute at a fashion show for Miss Marlene Dietrich, and have not been the same since.

INEZ ROBB

Any resemblance between myself and Miss Dietrich is not only purely coincidental but simply amazing, most of all to me. Aside from the fact we are both women, all similarity ends.

However, at the last moment before a fashion show in which the ageless glamour girl was to be one of the stars, Miss Dietrich was forced to cancel out.

This created a dire or five-aiarm emergency. The harassed director, an old friend of mine, called in a state of extreme agitation—which probably explains the whole thing—and asked me to act as a ringer for Miss Dietrich.

★ ★ ★

I REMINDED by distraught friend that I bore no resemblance to Miss Dietrich either from the neck up or the knees down and she agreed a little too instantly for tact.

However, she poured butter on the wound by reminding me that I can still wiggle into a dress with a 24-inch waist. Then the truth outed: I could wear the model's clothes without refitting, and there was now no time for such nonsense.

So began—and ended, undoubtedly—my contact with the bright, tinsel world of the professional model.

★ ★ ★

THE HUGE DRESSING ROOM was jammed with hangers filled with dozens of the most beautiful dresses in the world and crowded with 50 of the prettiest and most famous models in New York, all in various nonchalant stages of undress.

Well, I had spent some years in a girls' dormitory and additional ones in a sorority house, so this didn't bother me. What I did find disconcerting was the number of men who bustled in and out of the dressing room or who were stationed there to keep an eye on priceless furs, jewels and clothes.

★ ★ ★

BUT ANY PERTURBATION I may have felt at first was dissipated within 60 seconds. Were these gents leering at the models in their bikinis or less? No, a thousand times, no! Obviously fashion shows and models were old stuff to these boys. So help me, almost all had brought along a supply of comic books to keep themselves entertained!

Other lads were studiously engaged with racing tip sheets, canasta or cat-naps. Two gents, whose blood pressures must be alarmingly low, argued the merits of Taft vs. Eisenhower. It was depressingly prim.

★ ★ ★

A DRESSER REMOVED my drab suit and dropped a spring creation over my head. She started to zip it up and then recoiled, as from an adder. With cold disdain she said, "You'll have to take off all that underwear!"

The tone implied I was swaddled in flannels. I looked down quickly to see if I was still sewn into my winter woolies. But no, I was burdened only with the standard equipment of the modern woman, a girdle, panties, bra and slip. I meekly parted with the slip.

"I don't believe I shall be able to breathe," I said, as madam zipped me into the gown.

"Then don't," she snapped and disappeared.

★ ★ ★

TRUTH TO TELL, I did look grossly overweight beside the models whose respective waistlines must be no more than 22 inches to reach professional standards this season. These kids are obviously made of gutta percha rather than flesh and bones, and without ital organs.

There isn't much more to the episode, except that I am eternally grateful to Miss Dietrich for my initiation into this never-never world of New York's model girls. But as a steady diet, the life is too staid for me.

Try and Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

THE proprietor of the kennel, eager to close a sale, assured his prospective customer, "One more thing, lady. That hound is the best darn rat catcher this side of Louisville." As he concluded, the lady screamed sharply, and jumped up on a chair. An enormous rat was strolling casually across the room. Ten minutes later, when her composure had been restored, the lady sneered, "Some rat catcher, that hound! Why didn't he go after the one that frightened me so?"

"I don't take back a word of what I said," maintained the proprietor. "Just let a strange rat come in here!"

★ ★ ★

BERLINERS WHO STILL RETAIN a vestige of humor say the pretty girls know all about soldiers of the various occupying forces by this time. The Russian soldiers kidnap them, the French make eyes at them, the Americans marry them—and the British rush back to England to divorce their wives.

★ ★ ★

A GROUP OF ENGLISH SCHOLARS were being shown through Harkness Hall at Yale. "What architectural style did they say this was?" whispered the wife of one. "I'm not sure," was the dry answer, "but I think it was Reminiscence."

CRACKED FREIGHTER STILL AFLOAT

The Panamanian freighter Miget lies adrift in calm seas about 200 yards off Portsmouth Island, N.C., after it cracked amidships during a violent storm off Cape Hatteras earlier this month. All 26 crewmen escaped in a lifeboat when hurricane-whipped seas smashed the vessel. It was en route from Baltimore to Morehead City, N.C., with a cargo of wheat.

ONE-MAN ROADBLOCK

Edward Mack, who claims the state has not made a satisfactory settlement with him on razing his restaurant, apartment and service station at King of Prussia, Pa., maintains a vigil with his deer rifle and watchdog to bar any eviction attempt. Demolition of other properties nearby is proceeding to make way for widening of an expressway link with the Pennsylvania Turnpike but work crews thus far have steered clear of Mack's land.

INSPECTING SHATTERED TANKER

Crewmen of the 10,000-ton tanker Fort Mercer who remained aboard the stern section, after the vessel broke in two in a storm off Cape Cod, Mass., Monday, inspect point of severance after being towed into the harbor at Newport, R.I., yesterday. The stern will be towed on to New York to be fitted with a new bow section.

HERO SAYS PATRIOTISM IS NOW IN 'MOTHBALLS'

Gen. Robinett Speaks at Washington Day Banquet of Sons of the Revolution.

Patriotism and ideals of the United States have been "put in mothballs," Brig. Gen. Paul M. Robinett (retired) hero of Kasserine pass in World War II, said last night at a banquet of the St. Louis Chapter of the Sons of the Revolution.

"Cynicism, greed and corruption motivate the minds of those who are eating away at the spiritual foundations of the republic," he told 140 persons at the meeting, at the University Club, held in observance of the 220th anniversary of the birth of George Washington.

Urging a return to the ideals of Washington, Robinett, of Mountain Grove, Mo., who stopped Marshal Erwin Rommel in North Africa, said it was steadfastness of character which endeared Gen. Washington to his men, sustained him in the trying days of the war and led to his selection as the first President of the republic.

"We live today in a materialistic world devoid of the ideals of Washington's day," Robinett said. "Whole peoples have been enslaved and an unhealthy condition exists in all free lands," he continued, adding, "let us aspire to equal Washington in balanced idealism and strength of character."

Gen. Robinett said the study of history, particularly of the formative years of the United States, affords the best training in duties and responsibilities of citizenship. A study of the military and political problems Washington met and surmounted would provide guidance for the leaders of today, he said.

FUNERAL OF JOHN L. HUSSEY

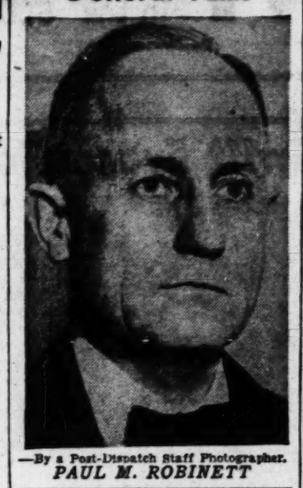

The funeral of John L. Hussey, retired general yardmaster for the New York Central Railroad, who died Friday at his home, 4058 Fairview avenue, of heart disease, will be held at 9 a.m. Monday from Holy Family Church, Oakhill avenue and Humphrey street.

Mr. Hussey, 72 years old, retired four years ago after serving the railroad for 44 years. He came to St. Louis from Cincinnati 25 years ago. He is survived by his wife, two sons, John W. and Edwin J. Hussey, and two daughters, Julia and Clara Hussey.

POVERTY, NOT REDS, CALLED FOE OF PEACE

Roger N. Baldwin Tells Political Workshop U.S. Is Bypassing U.N.

Poverty, not Communism, is the real enemy of world peace, Roger N. Baldwin, board chairman of the American Civil Liberties Union, said here last night.

The United States is too much concerned with being anti-Communist and not enough with being pro-democracy, he said, addressing a political workshop sponsored by the St. Louis chapter of Americans for Democratic Action at Bishop Tuttle Memorial, 1210 Locust street.

Baldwin, a former St. Louisan, declared that this country's actions do not jibe with its professions of support of the United Nations. The United States is bypassing the U.N., he said, in its arms program, construction of overseas bases and mutual security pacts.

Communism is capitalizing on poverty in underdeveloped parts of Asia and Africa, he said. He urged strengthening of the U.N. expansion of President Truman's Point Four program for aid to underdeveloped areas and reduction of armaments as means of combating Communism.

At a session of the workshop yesterday, Dean Sidney Sweet of Christ Church Cathedral emphasized the importance of each individual's vote, pointing out that widespread failure to vote makes for machine domination of government. The two-day program will end today.

MELLON GROUP GIVES $5,000,000 TO YALE

Money to Be Used to Strengthen General Education at University.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Feb. 23 (AP)—Yale University has announced a $5,000,000 gift from the Old Dominion Foundation headed by Paul Mellon, financier.

President A. Whitney Griswold told more than 1000 yale graduates back on the campus for Alumni Day yesterday that the money would be used to strengthen the general educational program in Yale college.

It was Mellon, a Yale graduate and son of the late Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon, said Whitney, who made the gift possible.

Griswold called the gift a "generous and enlightened grant." It will help Yale, he said, meet the economic problems presented by "inflation and an indifferent public policy that gives lip service to the survival of the private universities but makes inadequate provision for its accomplishment."

Griswold said the money would be used to:

Expand the Yale College "directed studies" program begun in 1946 under which undergraduates confine their studies to prescribed fields;

Finance a "tutorial plan" for sophomores in ten residential colleges which permits them to study one course in the informal atmosphere of the conference room rather than in the classroom;

Expand its "scholars of the house" program which frees a limited number of outstanding seniors from all classroom work and enables them to do creative work in writing, art, music and pursue special scholarly projects;

Restore Connecticut Hall, built nearly 200 years ago and the oldest building on the Yale campus, to provide more facilities for Yale College undergraduates and faculty members.

DEATH OF THE REV. A. F. EWERT

Funeral services for the Rev. Arthur F. Ewert, pastor of Westminster Presbyterian Church, Jacksonville, Ill., will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at his church. Burial will be in Jacksonville.

The Rev. Mr. Ewert, 69 years old, died yesterday at Jefferson Barracks Veterans Hospital following an illness of several months. He served as a chaplain during both world wars. Surviving are his wife, Melma; a son, Richard H. Ewert, 426 Parkwood avenue, Kirkwood, and a daughter, Mrs. Edna Burow, Toledo, O.

Martha Carr's OPINION

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM married and have two children. My husband drinks a lot and is very mean to the children. Sometimes he comes home in the wee hours of the morning after a night out and gets mad because I have not waited up for him.

When we were married some of my friends said I was too young, but I loved him very much and wanted to marry him then. Now he is almost unbearable and I am thinking of leaving him. The only reason I hesitate is that the children need a father. What shall I do.

HURT.

This is a serious step you are contemplating and one which demands a great deal of thought. Perhaps your husband is burdened with financial worries or unhappiness in his job, both of which can so easily result in disharmony in the home. See if he will discuss frankly and calmly the problem of your marriage and perhaps you can open his eyes to his faults as a father and husband. On the other hand, make sure you are maintaining a neat, orderly home for him and are doing all you can to be a good wife and mother. If you feel you want to discuss it with someone outside your home, go to your minister and ask his advice. Or you may want to take advantage of counseling services offered by social agencies. The Family and Children's Service, 4643 Lindeell boulevard, is a non-denominational agency for residents of the city, and its equivalent in the county is the Family Service Society. Further information on agencies where you may seek aid can be obtained from the Social Planning Council, Garfield 2600.

★ ★ ★

Dear Martha Carr:

I AM A GIRL 16 years old. There is a boy in school that I like. He is very nice but very undependable. I asked him to a party a month ago. He said he'd call and let me know if he could go. He didn't call so I asked another date. The next week in school he remembered and started apologizing. I forgave him and he asked me for a date for Sunday night. I accepted. He called Sunday evening at 7, and said he'd be here at 8:30. He never did come. The next day in school he came up to me with a fantastic story and began apologizing all over again. I told him I didn't believe his story. I still like him and would like to date him. He asked me out again, but my mother says he is going to stand me up again. So I don't know what to do. I need your advice at once.

WONDERING.

I think your mother is right. Sometimes, of course, an emergency arises which makes it impossible for a boy to keep a date, but it would seem as though this boy is sadly lacking in common courtesy by neglecting to get in touch with you about the party and standing you up for your Sunday evening engagement. Until he proves in some manner that he can be depended upon, I think you are wasting your time just sitting around waiting for him to show up—and wondering if he will.

★ ★ ★

IN ANSWER TO "Heartbroken": I suggest you and your parents discuss your problem with a caseworker in a social agency. The Social Planning Council, Garfield 2600, will give you the name of the proper agency.

Alcoholic's Wife

By Dr. Paul Popenoe

NO problem is presented more frequently by readers than that of the husband who drinks too much. Because it is common and because it has so disastrous an effect on marriage and family life, alcoholism is one of the greatest enemies of wives (and husbands)!

Mrs. I's story: "When my husband is sober you can't ask for a better man, but when he comes home drunk, he is abusive to me and the children. . . ." He keeps the family on the verge of bankruptcy. He is always deploring his own weakness and promising to do better. What are you and other wives going to do, Mrs. I.?

★ ★ ★

THE FIRST THING to do is to learn all you can about alcoholism. There are a number of good books which your public library can supply. My reading list on the subject will be sent with the compliments of the Post-Dispatch. (Please enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request.)

★ ★ ★

IN THE SECOND PLACE, remember that an understanding and loyal wife is one of the greatest helps to the cure of such a patient—frequently an indispensable help. One reason a husband drinks is because he doesn't believe in himself, is too dependent, can't stand up without a crutch. Often this is his mother's fault, but sometimes a wife drives her husband to drink, too. Examine yourself. Have you always helped to build up his self-confidence? Or have you beaten it down?

★ ★ ★

NEXT, REMEMBER that it is almost essential that he have outside help—including yours, of course. The help of a physician is needed, but the physician alone can rarely cure an alcoholic. Alcoholics Anonymous and other similar groups are your best prospect.

★ ★ ★

FINALLY, avoid in every way making him feel more guilty and remorseful, because that merely makes him drink more.

Deal with your husband as unemotionally as possible, Mrs. I. No blame, no denunciation, but assurance of loyalty: If he wants to work on his problem, you'll stand by him. That's your best prospect.

Social Problems

By Emily Post

AN awkward situation is described as follows: "Some weeks ago my husband was transferred to a branch office of his company in another city. I was to join him there as soon as he found a place for us to live. I naturally told my friends that I would be leaving soon and several of them gave a big farewell party for me and all brought presents. Now there has been a reorganization of the company and my husband has been called back. I am very much embarrassed over this and would like to know what to do about all the presents."

I think you will just have to tell your friends about the change in plans and offer to return their presents. If they are willing to take them you give them back and if they tell you to keep them, then you do so.

★ ★ ★

DEAR MRS. POST: I would like very much to have your opinion of the practice of calling a man (or even a boy) by his last name only. For example, Jones, Smith, etc. This seems very rude to me and I think that he should either be addressed as Mr. Jones, or, if he is very young, as John.

Answer: Calling someone by a last name is really halfway between the intimacy of first name and the formality of Mr. It is decidely European but is also used here in America in boys' prep schools and in business and in the armed forces, and in a few girls' schools.

★ ★ ★

DEAR MRS. POST: I have just obtained a divorce and would like to know whether or not it is proper to continue wearing my wedding ring. I have one child.

Answer: If you have no feeling against it, it is entirely proper to continue wearing your ring. If you want people to know that you are no longer married, you wear it on your right hand.

Corn Adds Realism to Movie Scene

By Jimmie Fidler

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 23.

FEW fans who see "Dream Boat" will challenge the authenticity of scenes which show a modern movie audience watching a picture. Director Claude Binyon, always a stickler for realism, insisted something was wrong when he surveyed the 250 extras seated in the theater set. "I know what it is!' he exclaimed after a moment's thought—and sent out for 50 bags of popcorn.

★ ★ ★

HUMPHREY BOGART, duly grateful for the honor paid him when his performance in "African Queen" was nominated by the Motion Picture Academy as the best by a male star in 1951, nevertheless sticks to an opinion expressed at award time last year. "How," he asks, "is it possible to determine which actor gives the best performance unless they all play the same role?" Of course he's correct in that opinion; it isn't possible to say with any degree of logic that Actor A's performance is better than Actor B's when the roles they essay are completely different.

★ ★ ★

PERSONAL OBSERVATIONS: Wonder if Mario Lanza's habitual pause in the studio cafe entrance is made to let him survey the crowd—or vice versa? . . . Bob Mitchum's wallet is merely a carrying case for pictures of his children; he totes his spending money in a trousers pocket . . . Add confirmed chin-strokers in moments of deep thought: Ronald Colman . . . Shelley Winters may be guilty of passing up the executives' table without a glance as she enters the studio eatery, but she can be depended upon to pay a brief visit to the table where the lowly press agents are having lunch . . . You'd be amazed how many glamour girl stars, when working in close-ups that do not show their feet, do their emoting in bedroom slippers.

★ ★ ★

MORE AND MORE the movie industry in all of its branches, like most other industries, is being invaded by specialization. In Stanley Kramer's current production, "The Happy Time," an important sequence hinges on a canary—a most notable singer. In one scene of that sequence the aforesaid canary is released from its cage and permitted to fly around a room. So what? So Kramer had to hire the services of two canaries. The perfect singer can't fly very well, whereas the perfect flyer can't sing worth a hang!

IDOL CHATTER: Add habitual under-the-breath whistlers: Humphrey Bogart . . . Linquistic observation: A capable coach may succeed in curing the accent of an import from any other European country, but the Englishman will cling to his till death do them part . . . You can't call our glamour girls old-fashioned, yet there's nothing that appalls them so much as a new wrinkle . . . In-a-word description of Bob Hope: Pun-handler.

Tasty Tricks

Some of the best cooks use cornstarch instead of flour in making sauces, because, since one tablespoon of cornstarch is the equivalent in thickening power to one and three-quarters tablespoons of wheat flour, you have the same degree of thickness in your sauce without clogging up the dish with carbohydrates. Cornstarch also makes a clearer sauce. The proportion of sauce to solids is the same for both creamed dishes and croquettes, one cup of sauce to two cups of solids.

How It Started

By Jean Newton

"The Glass of Fashion."

AS OUR correspondent says of this "old fashioned equivalent for terms such as 'smart' or 'fashion plate,'" it now enjoys only literary usage, and is very old fashioned indeed.

To those of us who lose sight of our Shakespeare, the words may indeed evoke thoughts of Lord Chesterfield. The preoccupation with appearance and good form which they seem to express makes this suggestion an intelligent guess.

However, and paradoxically enough, this inquiry leads us to one of the most profound works of literature—the "Hamlet" of William Shakespeare. The passage in which the words have their source is Ophelia's lament after Hamlet tells her to go to a nunnery!

"O' what a noble mind is here o'erthrown!
The courtier's, soldier's, scholar's eye, tongue, sword!
The expectancy and rose of the fair state,
The glass of fashion and the mould of form,
The observed of all observers, quite, quite, down!
And I, of ladies most deject and wretched,
That suck'd the honey of his music vows,
Now see that noble and most sovereign reason,
Like sweet bells jangled, out of tune and harsh."

Delicious dessert: Score a banana with the sharp tines of a fork and slice thin; arrange slices around sherbet glasses and fill with chocolate tapioca cream. Top each serving with a spoonful of sweetened whipped cream and a maraschino cherry.

Modern New England Touch

By Elizabeth Hillyer

HOW many kinds of modern furniture are there?

Yesterday's modern has changed. The boxy kind that abhorred any line but a straight one is going out of style. The plushy kind that took to too shiny fabrics and cubic-foot bulk wears softer colors now and slims down. The extreme modern that reduced furniture shapes to bare skeletons fills out and permits greater comfort. And the kind that was overdesigned and straining too hard to be different is quieter and less contrived.

★ ★ ★

TODAY'S MODERN in general is light-scaled, off-the-floor, simple and practical. The characteristics that make it new are largely practical, rather than mere change of appearance. Chairs, tables and storage pieces are styled to fit any room in the house interchangeably. Single pieces work more than one way, the beds that are sofas, the cabinets that produce dining tables.

And new pieces, produced because they are needed, change the style—serving carts, tables that take cushions to become benches, room dividers. Use of more wood than ever before has a changing effect, as do new materials, metal, woven reed, composition table tops.

★ ★ ★

THERE ARE three newest kinds of contemporary furniture. Much of one type is still classed as summer furniture, although it is used indoors, all year around. It is the metal furniture, largely wrought iron, which combines with glass and more and more often with wood and generous upholstery, and the newest reed and rattan.

The second kind, forecast by the work of Italian designers and some of our own, is sculptored modern, an important style which has not yet been widely seen.

And the third kind, already an influence, is modern that harks back to Early American.

★ ★ ★

HERE IS EXAMPLE of the latest furniture of the third kind which is on its way to the stores for spring. Called NowADay, it is modern with a New England flavor, made by a well-known company which has been making colonial furniture for 121 years. The wood is maple in as handsome a shade of soft grayed-brown as has yet been devised for a furniture finish.

Well-Shaped Suit

The well-shaped suit with widely flared skirt and brief jacket appears in many fabrics for spring. These fabrics range from the rayon worsteds to the soft ottomans for late day. The little suit-dress is a popular choice when made to fit young budgets. It is equally as popular as the coat dress and is prominently featured in the St. Louis designs.

Long Flight, Busy Hours In Karachi

By Eleanor Roosevelt

KARACHI, Pakistan.

THE flight from Lydda, Israel, to Karachi was begun while it still was almost dark. But as light dawned we saw the Dead sea below us and then the desert and, after a long time the Persian gulf. The colors of the sunrise were beautiful.

At 3:30 in the afternoon we circled Karachi and it looked like a city built right on the sands but the port is a very fine one. I discovered a little later on that, while Karachi is now the capital of Pakistan, 100 years ago it was a fishing port.

Population figures are somewhat startling. In 1941 Karachi had 359,492 people; today its population is 1,226,000. I gather these figures are approximate because the sudden rise in 1952 is due to a shift in population since the partition and represents a large number of refugees.

★ ★ ★

ON OUR ARRIVAL at the airport I found Begum Husain Malik, the daughter of the governor-general, there to greet me. Also on hand were a great many members of various women's organizations as well as government officials and our own embassy representatives.

After shaking hands with everyone, we mounted a stand on a decorated camel cart and I heard someone say he hoped no one would frighten the camel. The begum read a message to me from her father and then welcomed me on behalf of the All-Pakistan Women's Association. I answered and then, sitting on the platform, I had a three-minute interview with the press while a battery of cameras recorded every movement we made.

After this reception I spent a short time at the governor-general's house. Then I went with my hostess to the municipal hall for a civic reception. Here I was welcomed and presented with a silver replica of the beautiful mosque in Lahore and given the freedom of the city. Then I visited Begum Liaquat Ali Khan, who is president of the All-Pakistan Women's Association but because of her husband's death is still in deep mourning.

★ ★ ★

SHORTLY BEFORE 7 P.M. I was back at the governor-general's house and had a few minutes in which to dress before leaving for the prime minister's house. There he and I were photographed together with his sons and then I went to visit his wife and some other members of his family. These women do not come to mixed gatherings, but we had a pleasant chat and I returned to meet some government ministers at dinner.

I had interesting talks with some of those interested in economic developments and with the minister of health, whose problem seemed almost insoluble, and with the minister for refugees, who frankly said if it were not for the spirit of the people that his problem would be completely insoluble.

As I see some things that are being done in an attempt to meet these various problems I will tell you more about them.

Brain Game

HERE is a quiz on George Washington. Six correct is excellent.

1. Can you name two of the three Secretaries of State who served under Washington?
2. Henry Knox became the first man to fill what cabinet post under Washington?
3. Where was Washington born?
4. Did he build, buy, or inherit Mt. Vernon?
5. What was the outcome of Washington's encounter with the French at Fort Necessity on July 3, 1754?
6. Can you name Washington's wife?
7. Where did he take command of the Continental Army on July 3, 1775?
8. On the balcony of what building was he inaugurated as the country's first President?

ANSWERS.

1. Thomas Jefferson, Edmund Randolph, Timothy Pickering. 2. Secretary of War. 3. Wakefield, Va. 4. He inherited it from his half-brother. 5. Washington surrendered the fort. 6. Martha Dandridge Custis. 7. Cambridge, Mass. 8. New York City's Federal Hall.

Right Way To Prepare Shirred Eggs

By Edith M. Barber

"WHAT is the right way to make shirred eggs? And why are they given this name?" That's a question that came from a reader. The first part is easy to answer, but the second baffles me and several other food authorities whom I was curious enough to consult on this important question.

Neither English nor French dictionaries given any definition of this term. In fact, the latter ignore it completely. Eggs en cocotte correspond to the American shirred eggs. Even James Beard, the well-known author of cook books, is as puzzled as I am about how this term originated. In any case, almost all cook book writers agree that "egg shirrers" or individual baking dishes well buttered, are used.

Each egg is broken carefully into the dish, and seasoned. The dishes are then arranged on a cookie dish and baked in the oven until firm. I like to add butter before baking.

Variations are made by covering the bottom and the sides with fine crumbs and then covering the eggs with buttered crumbs before baking. Sometimes, the eggs are sprinkled with heavy cream, or small sausages or bacon strips may be arranged on top. Other variations are made by covering the eggs with different types of sauces and the dish will take its name from the particular sauce used. "Mornay" indicates a cheese sauce, "Florentine" a sauce flavored with spinach, and "Soubise" with onion.

Moderate temperature should be used with all kinds of baked eggs, and six to eight minutes is time enough for the eggs to set, unless they are covered with a sauce. Then, it will take a little longer.

Shirred Eggs With Cream.

Butter small individual baking dishes. Break an egg in each. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, and cover with cream. Top, if desired, with buttered crumbs, or sprinkle with paprika. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) six to eight minutes, until white is firm.

Eggs Mornay.

Cover eggs with cheese sauce. Sprinkle with more grated cheese. For six eggs, allow one cup cream sauce. Bake eight to 10 minutes.

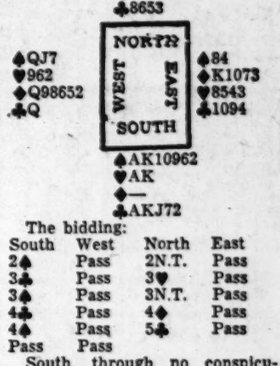

Eggs Florentine.

Put one tablespoon well-seasoned cooked, chopped spinach in each baking dish, and sprinkle with grated cheese. Add eggs, and one tablespoon cream for each egg. Top with grated cheese and bake eight to 10 minutes.

Contract Bridge

By Ely Culbertson

IF North in today's deal had been one of the lowliest members of that maligned group, "average players," his bidding still would have entitled him to a special sort of booby prize, but the incredible fact is that the North cards were held by a famous expert!

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
2♣	Pass	2N.T.	Pass
3♣	Pass	3♥	Pass
3♠	Pass	3N.T.	Pass
4♣	Pass	4♦	Pass
4♠	Pass	5♣	Pass
Pass	Pass

South, through no conspicuously lucky break, made two extra tricks at this modest contract.

Just in case some readers wish to point the finger at South and exclaim, "Imagine bidding only five clubs on a hand like that!" Perhaps we had better review the responses which South heard from the other side of the table, to see whether it was really he who deserved the finger of scorn.

Any competent observer must come to the decision that South was infinitely more sinned against than sinning! He would have been better off without a partner! For the fact is that North virtually went through a contortionist's act to hide his holding! Let's analyze:

The first response, two no-trump. was of course all right—although a leap to three no-trump was a close thing.

From that time on, however, North had the distinction of not making one remotely realistic or logical bid! His three-heart call over three clubs was incomprehensible; his three no-trump response to three spades was timid and inadequate; his four-diamond bid over four clubs (presumably, an abortive attempt to show control) was absurd in view of the fact that he had not yet supported South's clubs; and finally, North's failure to jump from four spades to six clubs was a simple case of capping a miserable performance.

Let's Explore Your Mind

By Albert Edward Wiggam, D. Sc.

Answer to Question 1.

YES. Why we've thought it's important to teach children the three Rs and not teach charm is a mystery. If I were teaching psychology I'd begin with charm—how to gain it. A beauty and charm course at Stephens College, in Columbia, Mo., showed astounding results. Wallflowers, social dumbells, and girls with inferiorities almost vanished. What such a course would have done for some of us men!

Answer to Question 2.

Yes, according to the president of an amusement park, who says the "Tunnel of Love" has been changed to "The Atom Bomb Shelter," and "To Hell and Back." One 4-year-old rode discontentedly on the "Merry-Go-Round," then commented: "This is all right, but where's the Atomic Fire Engine?" Youngsters want trips in the Flying Saucer, the Atomic Ray Booster, and Buck Rogers contraptions. Kids sure have gone atomic!

Answer to Question 3.

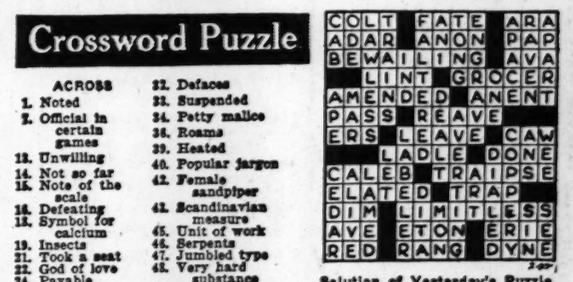

No. It has rehabilitated hosts of alcoholics and restored them to happy, useful lives, but hasn't cured them. They are still alcoholics. One drink and they will go overboard and always will.

How to Relax.

GRAINS RANGE HIGHER ON CHICAGO BOARD

CHICAGO, Feb. 23 (AP)—Most grains crept upward throughout the session on the Board of Trade today, scoring gains running to around a cent. Corn was an exception. It sank more than a cent early, but came back to reduce its losses before the final gong.

A little short-covering helped all cereals. There also was buying in wheat on continued dry weather in much of the Southwest. Oats attracted support from traders who believe this grain has been oversold. Lard scored only a moderate recovery from its sharp drop of Thursday.

Corn tended to lag because of hedging pressure, cash receipts were quite large and the cash market sank under the weight of these offerings. No. 2 yellow commanded a premium of only a cent over the May contract in contrast with 3 or 4 cents earlier this week.

Absence of moisture in the western sections of the southwestern Great Plains, the area needing rain or snow, failed to stir up much enthusiasm for wheat. The weather bureau's five-day outlook, issued yesterday, indicated there will be some moisture for eastern sections of this belt but none for the western areas.

Minor progress was reported from the Korean truce negotiations. There still were several tough knots to untangle before an armistice could be achieved, however.

Near the close wheat was ⅝@1c higher; March $2.55¾; corn ½c lower to ¼c higher, March $1.80⅞; oats ½@⅞c higher, March 83⅝c; rye 2@5¾c higher, May $2.00½; soybeans ½@1¼c higher, March $2.97½; lard (cwt.) 10@15c higher, March $12.30.

Lower Dividend Voted.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—American Machine & Metals, Inc., declared a dividend of 25 cents a share on the common, payable Mar. 31 to stock of record Mar. 14. The company paid 50 cents last June and 60 cents in December.

No Saturday Cotton Trade.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—Cotton markets in New York and New Orleans were closed today, inaugurating for the former a lengthy Saturday holiday that will extend through August. The New Orleans market has not yet decided what to do about closings in future Saturdays after today. The closing coincide with a dull period in the cotton industry.

There was no trading in cotton seed and soybean oil on the produce exchange today, where the Washington's birthday holiday was being extended through Saturday. However, cash grain prices were quoted as usual.

Mississippi Valley Stockyards.

Mississippi Valley Stockyards, Inc., reported as follows: For the week choice and high choice steers, $32.50@34.75; utility and commercial cows, $21@23; average good and choice bulls, $23@26.75; good to choice vealers, $32@39.

Hogs—Bulk of good 180s to 220 sold on the close at $18@18.15; packing sows, $13@16.

Sheep—On the close most good and choice lambs sold at $26.50@27.50; fat ewes mostly $12@14.

SQUIBB FEATURES A HIGHER STOCK LIST

Pharmaceutical Issue Spurts 3¾ Points on 10,000-Share Block at Start.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—E. R. Squibb, the pharmaceutical house with a producing interest in the new anti-tubercular agents, was a spectacular performer today in a generally higher stock market.

Squibb made a delayed opening on a block of 10,000 shares up 3¾ to 30½. Thereafter in fairly active trading it lost a portion of its best gain.

Buying orders poured in over the George Washington holiday recess and resulted in a congestion at the opening of the stock market. Exchange officials and brokers arranged an orderly market by moving out the big block.

Squibb started its rise Thursday with a gain of 2⅝ as a result of wide publicity given to use of the anti-tubercular drugs at a New York hospital.

The market as a whole was higher from the opening bell. Railroads took over leadership with Northern Pacific at the head of the procession. Oils gave good support with Standard Oil (NJ) in heavy demand.

Throughout the list the gains were fractions to between 1 and 2 points. Minus signs were scattered.

Volume came to 530,000 shares, exceptionally good for a short session following a holiday. Last week's volume was only 390,000 shares, lowest with one exception since Oct. 22, 1949.

Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed up .8 of a point at 98.4. The industrial stock index was up a full point.

Of 859 issues traded 495 ended up, 143 down, 221 unchanged.

The market this week suffered a severe sinking spell Tuesday and Wednesday, establishing a new low for the year, but it rebounded strongly Thursday.

That performance and today's strength has led to some conclusions that the market was oversold in the mid-week decline.

Curb exchange stocks were active and higher including Aspinook, Canadian Marconi, Consolidated Mining & Smelting, Creole Petroleum, Pressed Metals, Ryan Consolidated Petroleum, Savoy Oil and Trans Empire Oils.

Corporate bonds were steady.

COTTON TEXTILE SURVEY

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP)—Cotton textiles failed to show any signs of coming out of their protracted slump during the past week.

With buyers largely on the sidelines, print cloths, broadcloths and sheetings prices moved lower. The popular 80 square print cloth sold at 20¼ cents at the mill level, off ¼ cent, while in the resale market the same fabric sold at 20 cents a yard. Some of the bag sheeting numbers weakened about 1 cent a yard after reports that India had cut the export tax on competing burlap by 50 per cent.

An indication of the slow demand for soft goods came when a leading producer of sheets granted additional discounts of 2¼ per cent to buyers following an earlier concession of 5 per cent off list prices.

103,784 AUTO UNIT OUTPUT

DETROIT, Feb. 23 (AP)—Motor vehicle output this week will total 103,784 units, Ward's automotive reports said.

The agency counted 79,536 cars and 24,248 trucks in the total. Last week the factories built 79,914 cars and 25,559 trucks and in the like 1951 week turned out 155,847 cars and 32,998 trucks.

Canadian output is estimated at 3500 cars and 2455 trucks this week; against 3459 cars and 2882 trucks last week and 7802 cars and 2831 trucks in the like 1951 week.

COMMODITY INDEX LOWER FOURTH WEEK IN A ROW

NEW YORK, Feb. 23 (AP) — Wholesale commodity prices, as measured by the Associated Press commodity index, declined this week for the fourth week in a row. Early in the week, the index was at the lowest level since August of 1950. It turned slightly upward again just before the Washington's birthday holiday but did not advance to last weekend's level.

At 188.24 (Feb. 21) the index compared with 188.41 last weekend and with 214.12 a year ago. The base year of this index of 35 important wholesale commodity prices is 1926, which equals 100.

Three of the six commodity groups were at new 1951-52 lows—industrials, livestock and textiles.

The food and grains and cotton components advanced somewhat from last week, while non-ferrous metals held unchanged.

The index, with comparable figures for last week and a year ago, follows:

	Feb. 21.	Wk. Ago.	Yr. Ago.
35 commodities	188.24	188.41	214.12

HOG PRICES OFF IN SMALL MARKET WITH TOP $17.75

ST. LOUIS LIVESTOCK EXCHANGE, Feb. 23—Hog receipts 400; weights 180 to 220 lbs. 25@40c lower than Friday at $17@17.75, top $17.75; heavier butchers about steady; 230s to 240s, $17.25@17.50; 250s to 270s, $16.50@17; weights 170 lbs down steady to 25c lower, with 150s to 170s selling $15.75@17.25; Packing sows steady to 25c lower at $13@15.75.

Cattle receipts none; sheep none.

NATIONAL STOCKYARDS, Ill., Feb. 23—With Midwest marketings unusually heavy for the time of the year, hogs this week lost additional price ground to register a new low for 21 months, according to the Producers' Livestock Marketing Association. Cattle were unevenly steady to 50c reduced and lambs closed steady after losing an early upturn of 50c.

Thursday's hog top of $17.90 cwt. was 23 per cent under a year ago, but a rally Friday lifted the practical top to $18.15. Net decline for the week ended Friday on barrows and gilts was 25@50c, and packing sows figured steady to 25c reduced. The decline apparently stemmed from continued large receipts in the face of generally lower commodity prices. Hogs from two crops are now overlapping to help swell supplies.

Cattle showed mixed results on a fair supply and veal calves closed generally unchanged. High choice 1138-lb. beeves topped for carlots at $35.35 and a small lot of prime 925-lb. Angus reached $36. Most good to choice steers and heifers registered $31@34.25; commercial and low good $27@30.50. Veal calves sold downward from $41.

The week's top on lambs was $28.50, paid early, as against a late practical top of $28. Bulk of the week's supply, including a number of fall clips, cleared at $27@28.50, mostly $27@28 late. Several decks of good and choice No. 1 and 2 skins placed at $25.50@27. Yearlings were scarce, a few sales $22@23.50, with a deck of good 2-year-olds at $21. Most slaughter ewes $12@14; culls $9@11.

CHAPTER SEVEN.

DAVID CORTLAND has undeniable charm, and proved a good conversationalist, but Jan was ill at ease in the room alone with him. She kept thinking how, on her testimony alone, he might be sent to prison—or worse if Rob Briggs died.

She knew David Cortland was making an extra effort to be agreeable, and to win her over to his side. She determined not to be swayed by his appearance or personality.

He talked freely about the crime and explained that he had no alibi, as he was alone in his trailer, writing on his novel when it happened.

"I'm so far from my nearest neighbor," he explained. "That no one heard my typewriter, or could testify in my behalf.

"From that standpoint, I haven't a ghost of a chance. I can only hope they turn up the real boys but quick. I can't leave here, and it's certainly going to be uncomfortable for me until the bandits are arrested. Too many people will think I did it, including the chief. He's dead set on having me thrown in that funny jail at city hall. But it isn't funny to me, he added dolefully.

Jan fought to keep from feeling sorry for him.

He didn't mention Margaret Webster, and Jan didn't tell him about Margaret's plea on his behalf a short time before.

She would let him bring up the subject of his trysts with the doctor's daughter. Perhaps he felt obligated to keep them a secret.

★ ★ ★

JAN was glad when Tracy White came into the room and said they were ready.

"By the way," he remarked to David, "Do you own copper rivet-trimmed blue jeans and a gray slouch hat?"

"Yes," David said frankly. "My fishing outfit. I keep it in my car."

"Where's your car?" Tracy asked.

"Out at the lake. I came down with the state police."

"We'l, never mind," the inspector said. "We won't take the time to get them. The chief borrowed some blue jeans for our experiment. Let's go. We have a police car in the ambulance entrance. Don't want to attract any unnecessary attention."

Tracy took them to the car. A state trooper was driving, and Dawson was in the front seat with him. Henry Blair and Ted Miller, the other inspectors, were in a second police car.

Jan sat in the rear seat of the first car, between White and David Cortland.

They took a side street out of the village and drove north about two miles, then turned in at a farm house.

"We arranged to use the pasture here," Tracy explained. "It's sure to be more private than any side road."

Tracy asked Jan to take a walk with Blair while they made the arrangements.

"I don't want you to see anything but the actual re-enactment of the crime," he explained.

When they had gone, the two police cars were placed in the exact position of the postmaster's car and the bandit car. Then Tracy had Dawson show David exactly what he wanted him to do—to follow out the movements of the bandit who did the shooting, from the time he leaped from his car, firing, to the time he joined the other bandit and they dashed away.

David patiently rehearsed the action several times. Then they called Jan and Blair, and told them to come back.

David had donned the blue jeans and had put on a black mask and gray hat. Jan was stationed at the same distance she had been from the actual shooting.

The chief stood in the spot where he was at the time of the crime and Tracy "stood in" for the postmaster. Tracy broke his service revolver, extracted the cartridges and gave it to David to use.

The crime was re-enacted. David leaped from the "bandit car" simulating shooting. Tracy fell to the ground, but the chief remained upright, to have a better chance to watch every move that David made.

David Cortland grabbed an imaginary mail pouch from Tracy's hand, then ran back to the car. It seemed to Jan that he tried his best not to limp, but she detected a slight limp, nevertheless.

★ ★ ★

"THAT'S the man. He did it!" the chief cried, as David jumped into the "bandit car."

Tracy turned to Jan.

She was terrified. What should she say?

"Mr. Cortland is the size of the bandit. There is no doubt about that," she said slowly. The bandit's limp was a little more exaggerated. The hair seems to be the same color. But I couldn't say, from what I've seen, that Mr. Cortland did the shooting."

Cortland seemed to heave a sigh of relief.

"But it was him!" the chief insisted.

"Wait a minute, chief," Tracy said. "I want to hear more from Miss Valentine. She is making a very conscientious effort to be fair about this. Why do you have some doubts about it being this man?" he asked Jan.

"I can't tell you that," Jan replied, "I wish I knew. But I couldn't testify this was the man. I could only swear to what I have told you. Mr. Cortland is the same size as the bandit. The hair looks the same color. Both had a limp in the right leg when they ran. That's all I can say."

"The fact that Mr. Cortland is very good looking, and very personable, wouldn't influence you in any way, would it?" Tracy asked, with a smile.

Jan was indignant. She had tried so hard to be fair, that she resented such a question. Before she realized what she was saying, she blurted out:

"Not any more than the fact that he has been going with a young lady who is no particular friend of mine!"

The moment she said it, she was sorry.

Tracy burst out laughing. Cortland bit his lip, and flushed.

"I had it coming to me," the inspector said. "That was an unfair question, and I apologize.

"You have been very helpful, and I should have known that you're not the type to third-degree, even in a jesting way."

He took Jan by the arm and walked away from the group.

"I want to apologize in private, too," he said quietly. "I have the highest respect for your integrity and your willingness to help us in this case."

Then he chuckled.

"So you knew about Margaret Webster and Cortland, too. I told the boys this morning there are often more angles in a small-town case than we get in the larger cities.

"We'll go back now. There's nothing more to be done here."

Synopsis

JAN VALENTINE, a dress designer, comes home from her vacation. The day of her arrival, ROB BRIGGS, postmaster, and SAM DAWSON, chief of police, are attacked by a masked man who, after wounding both men, runs away with the mail sack. Sam Dawson is taken to Northwood Hospital, owned by DR. WEBSTER. In the meantime the United States Post Office inspectors establish their headquarters in the doctor's office. A writer, DAVID CORTLAND, living in a trailer is suspected by police. Jan Valentine, investigating noises in the house next door, finds a polio patient, MRS. FORD, who is anxious about her husband who finally comes home and seems annoyed by Jan's presence. Jan Valentine, on her way to the hospital for an interview by police, is stopped by Dr. Webster's daughter, MARGARET, who tells her that she is in love with the suspected writer, David Cortland. She claims he is not guilty. Jan Valentine is confronted with David Cortland and a reconstruction of the holdup is decided.

RIPLEY'S BELIEVE IT OR NOT

OUT OUR WAY—By J. R. Williams

Uncle Ray's Column

By Ramon Coffman

THE other day a 9-year-old girl asked me this question:

"Why do we have leap years?"

With Leap Year's day close at hand, many other persons probably are wondering about the same point.

The answer, in short, is that we must have leap years to keep our calendar from getting out of line.

A year is the time it takes the earth to make a complete trip around the sun. This is 365 days and almost one-fourth of a day extra.

Let us suppose that we forgot about that extra part of a day, and always had 365-day years. In a century, that would make a difference of about three and a half weeks. In eight centuries, the difference would amount to more than half a year! People then would have to celebrate Christmas in July!

In ancient times, some men knew that the true year has a bit more than 365 days. They used to correct their calendars from time to time, to keep the months in the proper season.

Julius Caesar, ruler of the ancient Romans, ordered a calendar to be followed with every fourth year having an extra day. After that, people spoke about the "Julian Calendar."

Everything would have gone along fine except for this fact: the true year has just a little less than one-fourth of a day extra. That small difference added up to 10 days during the 16 centuries after Caesar. Two Italian scientists—Lilius and Clavius—did a great deal of work to figure out a better calendar, and this was adopted. The new plan was named the Gregorian Calendar because it was approved, and ordered inside a certain area, by Pope Gregory XIII.

The Gregorian Calendar has an extra day once in four years, except that it is left out during some of the "century years." When the new calendar was adopted in Italy, people went to sleep in the evening of what they called the fourth day of October, and woke up on what was called the fifteenth of October! This may sound as though they slept for 10 and a half days, but the trouble came from "losing" 10 calendar days.
